Bank Robbery Near Tacoma Is Credited To Man Wanted In Kidnap Crime

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 15.—Fred Orrin Haynes, former Folsom prison inmate wanted for questioning in the kidnaping and murder of Charles Mattson, surrendered to Seattle police today.

Haynes appeared at the police station and asked to see Captain of Detectives F. G. Scrafford who had not yet arrived, and Haynes waited.

When the captain arrived at the station, Haynes told him he had heard he was wanted for questioning in connection with the Mattson case.

He knew nothing about it, he declared, and wanted to clear himself.

Scrafford immediately called G-men, who started an intensive questioning of the paroled convict, concerning his movements in the past few weeks.

After Haynes had been questioned minutely for over an hour, Capt. Scafford said his answers indicated he was in no way implicated in the Mattson crime.

He predicted that the G-men would free Haynes "within a few minutes," ending what for a time had appeared one of the most promising clues in the hunt for the kidnap-slayer.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Local streams are very high as a result of the rains which have swept the district in the last few days, but are still some distance away from the flood stage.

Once again the weatherman's prediction seemed to have been awry for this section. The cold wave that was to settle in our midst late yesterday appears to have been detoured, at least temporarily.

Heavy rains of the past 24 hours have resulted in streets being washed clean, and much accumulated winter debris being removed from the river banks, at least.

The winter mild weather and abundance of rain have played havoc with the surface of many of the unpaved streets in the city, and unpaved roads in the county.

U. S. weather statistics for the 24 hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follow:

Rivers Rising At Pittsburgh

Cold Wave Fails To Arrive In Pittsburgh District As Expected

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—For the second time in recent days, "flumonia" weather today halted the advance of cold from the west and started rivers in the Pittsburgh district rising again.

Rain that fell throughout the night sent the Allegheny up in its upper reaches while several hundred residents were reported periled by high waters in Chartiers Creek in Washington County. At the "triangle" here, junction of the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio, the rivers were reported rising but still far from the 25-foot flood stage. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said the present height was 18½ feet.

The temperature stood in the 40's, combining with the wet underfooting to provide excellent conditions for a rise in already prevalent pneumonia and influenza. Cold weather and snow was expected later in the day, perhaps providing a break in the unseasonable warmth.

High Waters Back Over Rail Property; No Serious Trouble

High water in the Shenango and Mahoning rivers in districts north of New Castle brought some concern to the Pennsylvania railroad's Erie and Ashtabula division officials at their offices here today.

This morning, it was learned, the swollen stage of the Shenango in Wheatland sent water seeping into the turntable pit at the Wheatland yards. In the Niles-Warren section in Ohio the high Mahoning waters had inundated some of its low-lying tracks of the road but had not halted traffic.

Officials looked for no serious trouble. They said that the Shenango here was giving no trouble whatever, although it rose somewhat overnight.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 15—Sing Sing's electric chair had claibed another murdered today with the electrocution of Louis Lazar, 29, for the slaying of Morris Saskowitz, 55, of Brooklyn, in an argument over a painting bill.

Lazar went to the chair at 11 o'clock last night, and was pronounced dead four minutes later.

In a cafe not far from the prison, his blonde wife, Yetta Lazar drank beer and listened to a phonograph during the evening, but boarded a train for New York City half an hour before the execution.

Rebels Seek To Cut Off Loyalists From Gibraltar

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Jan. 15—Leaving scores of dead on either side among the olive groves, insurgent forces totaling 20,000 today fought their way northeastward beyond Estepona—according to rebel sources—towards Malaga, 34 miles distant, in an offensive that would practically cut the loyalists off from the Straits of Gibraltar.

Madrid denied Estepona had fallen, and said a furious land, sea and air attack on Malaga in preparation for landing a large enemy force on Estepona had been beaten off.

Gibraltar heard the insurgent army was made up of 10,000 Moors, 5000 Italians and 5000 Spanish volunteers. Gen. Queipo De Llano's base headquarters at Algeciras, however, proudly claimed Estepona was taken by only 2200 "whites".

This is the first time since early in the war that Gen. De Llano has actively led an offensive. The southern commander up to now has confined his fighting to the radio.

Next Objective.

Marbella, half way between Estepona and Malaga, is the next rebel objective.

Hundred Forty Attend Annual W.C.T.U. Event

Loyalty Luncheon Of County Unions Takes Place Here On Thursday

REV. CADWELL AND DEAN BURR SPEAK

One hundred forty women from all parts of Lawrence county gathered in the First Presbyterian church at noon yesterday for the annual Loyalty Luncheon of the W. C. T. U. and heard forceful addresses by Dean Alex C. Burr of Westminster College and Rev. Merrill Cadwell of the First Christian church in which they declared that "alcohol is just what it used to be many long years ago" and that "repeal is a colossal failure."

The youthful college dean, a strong and positive speaker, gave a concise and interesting account of the liquor problem from the standpoint of law and history. He said that it is interesting to note that it has been a vital and distressing problem ever since the dawn of civilization and that never has a code of laws been enacted but that sections relating to the liquor traffice have been included.

Taverns Immorality Centers

Dean Burr pointed out that taverns and places where liquor is dispensed have through many centuries been recognized as centers of gambling and immorality.

"The business of selling liquor," he declared, "has from the very beginning been for greed of money and greed of money alone. It has always been allied inextricably with anti-social practices."

He described various retraining laws that have been enacted in the past but added that they have been gross failures and that "proponents of liquor have made promise after promise and have broken them."

He concluded his address with the verse from Proverbs, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

U. S. Army Engineers Announce Plan For Patrol Of Pittsburgh Rivers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Formation of an "ice patrol" to keep tab on Pittsburgh's three rivers was announced today by the United States Army Engineers.

Although no difficulty has been experienced to date because of the unseasonal warm weather, the engineers organized the patrol so that with the advent of colder weather, they would be prepared to meet any condition.

It was the first time in the history of the army corps that the patrol was officially organized for the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio rivers. An area of 300 miles of navigable rivers will be kept under close surveillance at all times by the newly created group, with the collected information to be sent to division headquarters and to all companies engaged in river shipping or transportation.

New Jersey Bank Scene Of Holdup

(International News Service)

WOOD-RIDGE, N. J., Jan. 15.—Four armed bandits held up the Wood-Ridge National Bank here today and escaped with between $8,000 and $9,000, according to George Young, a bank official.

When the robbers entered, Young and four clerks were in the bank.

"They all had guns," Young said. "They didn't do any shooting but they made all of us step around as they told us, and they took the money. We haven't checked up yet as to the exact amount, but I would say it was between $8,000 and $9,000."

Local Streams At High Point

Near Flood Stage Results From Incessant Rains Of Past Few Days

COLD HALTS RISE LATE THIS MORNING

Although local streams were at a high point today, they were still several feet away from a possible flood condition, such as existed last spring, the highest stage streams here had known since the flood of 1913.

Both the Neshannock and Shenango had risen about four feet in the last twenty four hours, the Shenango standing at 12.6 feet late this morning. This was three and a half feet under the stage reached last spring during the flood period, when the Shenango stood at 16 feet. It would take quite a lot more of precipitation to send this stream up to that point as the river overflows its banks north of here and the water spreads out over a wide area The Neshannock still had about two feet to go this morning before the water would reach the bottom of North St. bridge, and it has lapped against the bottom of the structure twice in the last few years without causing a flood condition. It was stationary at noon today.

Floods were reported in Ohio today but it is believed there will be no danger here since the rains have stopped, and the weather has turned colder.

A number of the smaller streams in this district were overflowing their banks, it was reported, having risen rapidly.

Body Of Suicide Is Unclaimed In Morgue At Detroit

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Jan. 15—The body of Frank Shaner, 65, Youngstown barber who ended a broken romance in a burst of gunfire here by slaying one man, wounded two other persons and then committing suicide, according to police, lay unclaimed today in the county morgue here.

The body of Edward Van Kirk, 25, who was shot fatally by Shaner was on a slab nearby. Mrs. Mary Van Kirk Petrisor, 43, and her husband John, 47, wounded in the burst of gunfire at a rooming house here, were in a serious condition.

Shaner, police said, came here from Ohio after Mrs. Petrisor wrote asking for $2,000 in back room and board, Shaner lived in the Van Kirk home in Youngstown for 18 years, it was said. As he shot Mrs. Petrisor, he called her his "old sweetheart." The Petrosors were married seven months ago and came to Dearborn to live.

Brest And Logan Are Indicted In Federal Court

Expect Suspected Volant Bank Robbers To Be Returned To Pittsburgh

QUICK ACTION IS TAKEN BY JURY

Pair Held At Boise, Idaho, Will Face Severe Penalties Of Federal Law

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Harold Martin Brest, 27, of Sharon, and Harry James Logan, 28, of Pittsburgh, two paroled Western penitentiary convicts, today were quickly indicted by a federal court jury on charges of committing the two successive holdups of the First National bank of Volant, near New Castle.

Recalled into session Thursday by U. S. District Attorney Charles F. Uhl, the jury returned the indictments in split-second speed to facilitate the return to Pennsylvania of the two desperadoes seized by police at Boise, Idaho, while leaving a motion picture theater.

To Face Federal Laws.

Uhl, in recalling the jury, refused to hear of a purported offer of the two men to plead guilty to the holdups if they could be tried in the Lawrence county court at New Castle instead of the more drastic federal laws.

The two men were named in a single indictment on four counts. Two of the counts were in connection with the two holdups, the first September 15 in which $5,846 was seized and the second on December 18 in which the loot totaled $3,910.35.

Return of the indictments presages a swift return of the men to Pittsburgh and a quick disposition of their case if guilty pleas are entered.

The other two counts accused the men of jeopardizing the lives of those in the bank by threatening them with guns. The possible victims were listed as P. M. Cox, cashier; Mrs. Mabel Simpson Brown, assistant cashier; L. P. Hauschild, a national bank examiner, and L. W. Morgan, an assistant bank examiner.

Brest was credited with the following aliases: Arnal, Brady, Banks and Arnold. Logan was credited with being known as "Sputz" and Selante.

Almost Every Stream In State Of Indiana Is Out Of Its Banks Today

RED CROSS IN MISSOURI ACTIVE

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 15.—Cold temperatures and cessation of rainfall today promised relief in the Indiana flood crisis, but every stream in the state remained out of its banks, thousands of acres were inundated, many communities were isolated, schools were closed and important levees were broken.

The flood was caused by 3.05 inches of rainfall during the past 48 hours.

Streams Over Banks.

From north central to southern Indiana, raging streams overflowed their banks, forcing hundreds of persons in the lowlands to flee for their lives.

To reinforce threatened levees, 700 WPA workers will fill sandbags in this area threatened by the raging waters of the Wabash and White rivers, near Vincennes.

Three hundred men will go to the White river levee south of Vincennes, where that stream threatened to inundate nearly an entire township.

Red Cross Busy.

Poplar Bluffs, Mo., Jan. 15.—One hundred and fifty persons, whose lowland homes have been marooned by the rain-swollen Black river here today were being cared for by the Red Cross and the national guard.

About 200 refugees were sheltered at the court house last night.

Negro Slayer Awaits Trial

Number Of New York Women Attempt To Mob Slayer As He Leaves Courtroom

ALIBI OFFERED BY "OTHER MAN"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Indicted on a charge of first degree murder, Major Green, 33-year-old Negro who confessed the slaying of Mrs. Mary Robinson Case, today awaited trial for the crime on February 1.

Shaky and nervous after his near-mobbing by a crowd of indignant women, Green continued to insist that a second man had been involved in the crime.

Offers Alibi

But police declared the implicating of the other man—Robert Hines—was merely the result of a grudge dating back to the robbery of the Case apartment last summer.

Hines, police asserted, had offered an iron-clad alibi and was completely exonerated of any part of the crime.

Drooping, heavy-eyed and dog-tired after hours of grilling, Green was indicted soon after his arraignment in Queens county court.

As he was being led to the court, 40 screaming women set on him, belaboring him with umbrellas and pocketbooks. They cried:

"Lynch him!"

"He ought to be hung!"

"The chair's too good for him!"

Detectives kept the women from injuring the Negro porter. Green, manacled to the hand of a detective, put up a guard with his free arm to defend himself against the angry women.

'Baby Tornado' Hits York, Pa.

Damage Of About $10,000 Reported As Two Homes Are Unroofed, Porches Shattered

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Jan. 15.—A "baby" tornardo dipped into a single block of this city early today, unroofed two homes, shattered several porches and scores of windows, but left the district's residents unhurt. Damage was conservatively estimated at $10,000.

Archibald R. Lefever, one of those whose home was stripped of its covering, said he was awakened about 4 a. m. by a "low, roaring sound". From a window of his room he said he saw the "twister" advancing, a ball-like luminous cloud close to the ground.

A moment later the roofs of Lefever's home and that of Nelson R. Gouker were jerked free and dropped 20 feet from the dwellings. Stones and dust particles pelted the district, Lefever said. One pebble left a bullet-like hole in a window of the Gouker home.

Terrorized residents besieged police with emergency calls. Not since 1896 had York been visited by such a "big wind", authorities said. A tornado struck nearby Hanover in 1912, unroofing several hundred houses and causing damage estimated at about $1,000,000.

Agree On Truce In Motor Strike After Long Parley

Reach Agreement At 4 O'Clock This Morning At Lansing Conference

TERMS OF TRUCE ARE MADE PUBLIC

Expect Permanent Settlement Of Controversy Can Be Reached Now

By PAUL BENTON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 15.—America's greatest, most unusual and most economically dangerous motor strike in history ended at least temporarily today. A truce was called at four o'clock this morning.

Credit for the immediate achievement is being accorded Governor Frank Murphy, although he disclaims it.

In his smoke-filled office in the gloomy old state house in Lansing representatives of the General Motors corporation, titan among American manufacturing concerns, and the United Automobile Workers Union wrestled with their problems for 15 hours before reaching common ground.

Terms of Truce

Briefly, the terms on which the truce, expected to be a prelude to a final settlement, was reached are:

1. The "sit-down" strikers are to evacuate the plants they now hold in Detroit, Flint and Anderson.
2. This evacuation to be completed by Monday morning.
3. Negotiations "for the purpose of bargaining collectively on the proposals contained in the letter of the international union of January 4, 1937," are to be started at 11 a. m. (Monday) at the General Motors office in Detroit.
4. There will be no discrimination against unionists by the GMC.
5. There will be no termination of negotiations for 15 days after Monday unless a permanent settlement is reached sooner.
6. The GMC pledges itself to remove no tools, dies, machinery or material (except for export purposes) from the plants on strike during the negotiations.
7. The GMC pledges itself to re-

An effort by Senator Byrd (D) of Virginia, to limit the extension to one year was defeated by a record vote of 23 to 52.

The resolution, extending the life of the RFC group until June 30, 1939, now goes to the house.

Lawyer Group Gives Finding

Constitutional Amendment Or Crippling Of Supreme Court Only Way

COURT MEMBERSHIP CHANGE NOT ENOUGH

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937, by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—After a three-months investigation, a group of lawyers, including many noted professors and legal advisers of labor, have decided that congress cannot restore objectives of NRA without a constitutional amendment or crippling of the supreme court, Rep. William I. Sirovich (D) of New York, revealed today.

The lawyer group includes one of the most prominent advisers of the committee set up by George L. Berry and Sidney Hillman, prominent labor leaders, for the express purpose of seeking legislation to restore NRA objectives.

As a result of the decision, Sirovich said, a drive will be opened in congress for one or more amendments to the constitution to give congress authority over wages, hours, child labor and unfair trade practices.

Study Every Method

The legal group studied every method of circumventing the supreme court's decision holding NRA unconstitutional. Since the decision was unanimous, with liberal Justices Brandeis, Cardozo and Stone joining the majority, the group argued a mere change in the membership of the court would not meet the situation.

"Even before the election I began work with a group of noted lawyers, including professors at Columbia and New York Universities, advisers of labor and others," said Sirovich. "All were sympathetic with the objectives of NRA.

"These lawyers, numbering more than 20, have advised me after a three months' investigation that it is impossible to restore NRA without a constitutional amendment. The group includes some of the ablest lawyers in the United States.

"The stumbling block is the rule on interstate commerce. And of course, congress cannot regulate purely intrastate matters.

"The group believes that the O'Mahoney bill for federal licensing of industry is unconstitutional under the NRA decision.

"And they hold that if congress attempts to strip the court of power the court may hold that act unconstitutional."

Sirovich, recording the belief of the noted group of attorneys, said the "American people do not realize how far-reaching and all-embracing is the decision of the supreme court in the NRA case. While the lawyers do not agree with the decision, they realize that it was unanimous."

There are about 1,000,000 square miles of lake and river surface on the earth.

Rev. Cadwell Speaks

Rev. Cadwell charged that state control of the liquor traffic has been a great failure and urged that the W. C. T. U. stand up and testify to the fact, stirring up public opinion to the extent that the system will be drastically changed Then, he concluded, will these Loyalty Luncheons attain the purpose for which they were instituted.

This year's luncheon attendance was considerably larger than that of last year, in spite of the rainy weather. The menu was served promptly at 12:30 p.m. by the Ladies Aid of the church. The tables were attractively groomed in orchid and green streamers and a low bouquet of lovely flowers graced the speakers' table.

Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, wife of the First Presbyterian pastor, led the group in the singing of temperance songs, with Mrs. Lee Allen accompanying at the piano.

Delbert Fletcher Sings

Later Mrs. McIlvaine accompanied when a guest artist, young Delbert Fletcher of this city, sang three beautiful solos. Mr. Fletcher's abilities are well known to New Castle; only a few months ago he had a leading role in the Y. W. C. A.'s production of The Mikado at the Cathedral.

A number of guests were introduced by Mrs. Wilkins, among them Mrs. Merrill Cadwell, Mrs. Harold A. McCurdy and Rev. C. N. Moore.

Rev. Moore, a retired minister, now residing in New Castle, said a few words of encouragement to the organization and added that he was strongly on its side.

Rev. H. A. McCurdy, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, gave the invocation at the opening of the meeting and Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, offered the benediction.

Everyone agreed that it was one of the most inspiring and well planned Loyalty Luncheons the county unions have ever had. The arrangements had been taken care of by the county executives. Mrs. J. C. McClaren took care of the reservations.

If they lacked them, the ships would be watched as they unloaded in Spanish ports, and any contraband would be reported to the patrol as soon as Italy and Germany agree to a ban on Spanish volunteers.

Both countries also want the partial blockade put into effect regardless of whether the rebels and Loyalists in Spain accept it.

The Soviets further advocated that the warship ring encircle Portuguese waters as well.

Fearing that Italian and German naval vessels would be permitted by their governments to wink at shipments of munitions to rebel Spanish ports, France recommended that British ships take up the major burden of patrol work.

Unwilling to assume the full responsibility, however, Britain insisted that the patrol be of an international nature, all major European powers participating.

Bitter fighting northwest of Madrid was meanwhile going on.

BLUE CLAY BANK FOUND NEAR CABIN PATROLMEN RAID

the frozen, battered body of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, kidnap-murder victim, was found 6 miles south of here last Monday.

Although officers found no clues in the cabin, which had been scrubbed clean, they came upon a blue clay bank in the rear of the cabin—clay similar to the type found under the fingertips of the little victim.

It was in this cabin, officers believe, that the boy was held captive before the fiendish kidnaper murdered him.

The patrolmen searched every room in the cabin, paying particular attention to the bathtub from which blood spots could be erased easily.

Cabin Rented.

The cabin was rented two months ago by its owner, Mrs. Melvin Smith of San Jose, Cal., to a man whose description tallies with that of Fred Orrin Haynes, ex-convict of California prisons.

Haynes—if he were the tenant—vacated the cabin Wednesday night. He was accompanied by a woman. This was learned from a neighbor across the street from the cabin. He told officers the tenant turned over the cabin keys to him, requesting they be delivered to Mrs. Smith.

"And who shall I say left them?" the neighbor asked.

"Anderson," was the reply.

From Mrs. Smith in San Jose came word that the cabin was rented to a man who gave his name as "Charles Wydell".

Search Another Shack.

The Smith cabin was the second raided within 24 hours. State officers late yesterday searched an abandoned shack in the wooded snow-covered mountains, 20 miles from here. They found a bundle of men's clothing apparently bloodstained. First reports that the clothing was a boy's size were discounted by officers who confiscated it for microscopic inspection as a possible link in the chain of clues which now include:

1. A woman's lipstick picked up in Everett at the place where the abandoned, bloodstained murder car used to transport the Mattson boy's battered body, was found.

2. A woman's slip found in the murder car by an International News Service correspondent, giving the first indication "Tim", as the kidnap fiend identified himself in his $28,000 ransom demand note to Dr. Mattson, had a woman accomplice.

Hunt For Haynes Increased.

The manhunt for Haynes as the No. 1 suspect was intensified as G-men and state police sought to link him with a bank holdup Wednesday afternoon in Tacoma, 65 miles south of here—the home town of Dr. William W. Mattson, a prominent surgeon and father of the slain boy.

The bank robber was believed wounded as he made his escape.

Flurry started in Tacoma yesterday as a dark, slender man about 20 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weight about 135 pounds—the description of "Tim", the blackbeard who kidnaped the Mattson boy—jumped in a car driven by Anton Barcott and said "I've got a package for you."

His package was a gun and he forced Barcott to the sidewalk and raced in Barcott's car to the Lincoln branch of the Puget Sound National bank.

Robs Bank.

There the desperado informed Charles Greening, bank manager, "I've got a package for you," and produced his gun, forcing Greening and two other bank employes back against a wall with their hands up. There were no customers in the bank at the time.

The gunman asked Greening for all the money he could produce. Greening flung a big 100-pound bag of silver to the floor. The gunman calmly gathered it up, put it in a shopping bag he carried, walked out and drove away in his stolen car.

But the bank manager went after the robber with a rifle and fired three shots at the disappearing car. A few hours later the machine wet with blood, was found abandoned on the outskirts of Tacoma, a blood-stained trail leading into the hills in the direction of Everett.

Believe Bandit Wounded

One or more of the bullets apparently went through the bandit and it was believed he would be too weakened from loss of blood to long evade the posse hot in his wake.

Descriptions furnished G-Men by Barcott, Greening and other reports from California police established identity of the No. 1 suspect in the Mattson case as Fred Orrin Haynes, California ex-convict.

"We are convinced," a chief of the forces of the law told International News Service," that the wounded robber is the abductor and slayer of the Mattson boy. His description tallies with the kidnaper.

"His actions in holding up the bank indicate he is either mentally unbalanced or a dope addict, the same characteristic as marked the abductor.

"This man and a woman companion came from California and staged the kidnaping. The boy was killed and Dr. Mattson wouldn't pay the $28,000 ransom without proof his son was alive, so the body was thrown into the snow. The fiend had to have quick money to get away, especially as the car in which he carried the body to the thicket patch had been picked up in Everett and evidence was produced to show his accomplice was a woman.

"His trail was red hot so he doubled back to Tacoma, the scene of the abduction—criminals always seem to come back to the scene of their crime—and went in for the bank robbery."

G-Men were seeking Haynes for questioning in the Mattson case because of a reported Los Angeles boast he planned a $20,000 or $30,000 snatch.

Chain Tightens

Then came word from Mrs. Melvin Smith, San Jose, Cal., that two months ago she rented her cabin near Everett to a man and woman. On December 27—the day of the kidnaping—the rent was due. It wasn't paid.

She described her tenant as a "hook-nosed swarthy man," and otherwise put the marks of the kidnapers on him Then she was shown a picture of Haynes, former Folsom convict, and immediately declared that the convict was the man who had rented her cabin.

This information was flashed by San Jose police to the federal bureau of investigation agents.

She also said that in the yard of her cabin was a barbecue pit around which there was blue clay, the same type as clung to the body of the murdered boy.

Haynes previouslyy had been listed as a suspect due to a tip given Los Angeles police by Helen Barber, serving a year term in the Los Angeles county jail for a burlary in which Haynes was believed involved. She informed southern California officers that Haynes planned to kidnap a Glendale physician's son in December 1935.

BULL BEATS HORSE

(International News Service)

CAPE TOWN—A horse and a bull engaged in a terrific battle at French Hoek, Cape Province—and the bull won. The horse kicked the bull when the two animals were in a field. At the time the bull did not retaliate, but a few days later attacked the horse, injurying it so badly, it had to be destroyed.

It may be heresy, but our idea of a wasted life is one spent studying distant stars that may not be there.

GAS MASKS FOR ALL

ACCORDING to the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of the Home Office Great Britain will shortly be the first country in the world to supply gas masks free of charge to the inhabitants of all its cities. By Easter it is hoped to have 7,000,000 available for Londoners.

Other European countries will, of course, follow suit, if they have not already gone into the gas mask business wholesale. And yet, if memory serves, representatives of more than a score of nations met some time after the World War and solemnly signed a compact that no matter what should betide they would never, never use any form of poison gas again. A similar agreement was in effect before the World War and those who still believe in treaties can point to the fact that it was faithfully observed in time of peace. It was broken only when it became convenient to do so. . .

The British are not to be blamed for this example of preparedness. They weren't ready the last time. They are hoping there will be no next time. And yet there is something saddening and ominous in this incident, expressive of the fear that man's inhumanity to man is only being held in leash, threatening again to break loose and drop death and disaster upon whole populations from the skies.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES

Our faith in freedom is based on the belief that every human soul has its own sovereign rights—rights that are not merely granted by society but are an essential of the human character. Since society is nothing apart from the men and women of which it is fashioned, it can never ignore this right of freedom without courting its own destruction.

Yet this freedom is not the freedom for men to do as they please. Even in primitive society this freedom is denied, and the complex demands of civilization deny it in a thousand ways. When men agree to live together for the sake of work or happiness, they set limits to their behavior and agree to live beneath a code and law.

Yet the right of freedom remains. It is a right not to natural but to spiritual freedom. Its most vital doctrine is that men have the right to think as they please.

Man as a member of society has duties rather than rights. As an individual his rights are supreme. The problem of society is to appoint to each man his duties while scrupulously protecting his rights. For in the right of men to think as they please lies the only hope for the endurance and perfection of society.

$50,000,000 FOR BOYHOOD

The bequest of the late Charles Hayden, New York banker, of his residuary $50,000,000 estate to aid boys and young men is of special interest to Pennsylvania, long familiar with the Andrew Carnegie and other philanthropies. In fact, the Magdalen Society, established in Philadelphia in 1800 to help "unhappy females" return to "rectitude," was the nation's first foundation, about 125 of which now give away more than $50,000,000 annually to worthy causes, institutions and persons. Benjamin Franklin's grants of one thousand pounds to Philadelphia and Boston to aid married artisans were also pioneer aspects of what is now a big business of giving, systematically regulated.

Since Plato willed his famous grove for an academy, and the Ptolemies endowed an Alexandria Library, many persons who have amassed wealth by hard work and good management have seen fit to distribute their substance, in the words of Mr. Hayden, "so that the greatest good may result therefrom to the greatest number." The Charles Hayden Foundation will be smaller than the Carnegie Corporation, Rockefeller Fund, General Education Board and Duke Endowment, yet will take a place with such illustrious company as the Russell Sage Foundation, Julius Rosenwald Fund, Commonwealth Fund, Millbank Memorial Fund, John Simon Guggenheim Foundation and a hundred others.

Although a bachelor Mr. Hayden believed "the future of this nation, and of the world, for that matter," depends on American boyhood. His fund is to provide for boys' "proper training" through education, mental recreation, whole-some educational entertainment and co-ordinated physical training." He also would have them "fostered and encouraged in the manner of right and proper living." In size, in lack of restraints, in far-reaching potentialities, this generous bequest ranks as one of the most notable contributions to human welfare in our era.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

CHICAGO—Prof. A. R. Hatton, political scientist, recommends a cure for civic ailments: "Municipal government has become the tail to the national party kite. The way out is the city manager form."

INDIANAPOLIS—Gov. M. Clifford Townsend lays down the law to Indiana's state employes: "Nobody can work for the state of Indiana who drinks while he is on duty, and nobody can work for the state, if I know it, who gets drunk while he is off duty. These persons must be able to give efficient service and they can't do it when they've been drinking."

NEW ORLEANS—Murray D. Van Waggoner, of Lansing, Mich., describes diversion of gasoline taxes as Public Enemy No. 1 of highway progress: "The diversion evil has grown until motor vehicle taxpayers of America have been deprived of more than a billion dollars worth of rightful benefits."

HOLLYWOOD—Frank ("Bring 'Em Back Alive") Buck discusses thrills: "There's a real thrill in reaching into a brush and dragging out a 15-foot python head first because if one gets its coils around you, death follows in about three minutes."

THE SALESMAN

He came to the door with a wink in his eye
And a trace of a grin on his lips.
A peddler of something he wished I would buy
Which he carried about in his grips.

I noticed a bit of a lilt in his voice,
Like the note of a musical bell,
And the first thing I knew I was making a choice
Of the things that he offered to sell.

He set me to laughing by something
he said,
What it was now I'd like to recall,
But I found when he'd gone I had needles and thread
For which I have no use at all.

The stuff that he sold me was not what I bought
With the small silver coin that I paid,
But the wink in his eye and the jest
that he brought
And the mome it of mirth that he made.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TOT ASKS ABOUT GOD

What have your children asked you about God? Have their questions been easy to answer?

Edna Dean Baker, president of the National College of Education, Evanston, Ill., who has written several books on religious education, contributed a good article on "Why Children Ask About God" in the December, 1936, issue of Childhood Education. Her article grew out of the answers by 200 parents to a questionnaire about the questions on religion asked by their children. To quote:

"Children's questions about God, contributed by parents, are very realistic: Where does God live? What does He eat? Does He go to bed at night? Is His house plastered or stuccoed? How did He make snakes and trees and bears? How did He make man? What did He make first? Why can't I see Him? Why can't I hear Him?"

Ideas, Questions Change

These questions by young children are very similar to those reported by G. Stanley Hall years ago and the kind, moreover, that many of my readers have heard from their own children. To quote further from President Baker:

"The child's ideas and questionings concerning God gradually change, become less realistic, become more involved as his thinking develops in this field. The number of questions asked of others become fewer as the child approaches adolescence. In spite of the fact that he is more able to reason and to arrive at his own conclusions, the adolescent is often in need of an older friend with whom he can discuss his religious problems.

"It has been suggested that the concept is acceptable for an individual which at a moment has greatest meaning and potency in his life.

"What kind of theory of life do we want our children to deduce from their experience with us? Do we wish it to be a static concept of a world ruled by a creator who acts in every situation as a direct agent and controls people and events to his own ends? Or do we seek to inspire a more dynamic conception of a world which is not finished, of a world where each individual has his own share of responsibility in creating beauty and in making a more wholesome society, of a world where unselfish love is stronger than hate and fear—in fact, a world in which love is the supreme force capable of transforming nature and society; of a world where spiritual possessions are of most value and are not subject to loss?"

GIVING A SMALL BOY HIS BATH

I'm sorry for any father who never has had the fun of giving his small son his evening bath.

To some this may seem a trivial pleasure. There may be some enlightened and superior beings who might say that it is nothing to be compared with reading a great book, seeing a great play, hearing great music, or doing great deeds of heroism or unselfishness.

But we're not talking about major joys, we're talking of the minor delight of giving a small boy his bath.

We'll start with him in the bathroom after we've answered that inevitable question: "Why do I have to take a BATH?" and after we've overcome whatever conventional objections he may have had.

First he has to turn on the water. That's his job and you can't do it. He won't let you. Then he has to take away his horn, his harmonica, a souvenir picture card that's very precious to him, a few nails, a small rubber ball, and a couple of marbles. . . . His small sweater comes over his head, his small trousers drop down, his shoes come off—and while the tub is filling you wash his teeth. That's a job father never does as thoroughly as mother, but it's done at last and he insists on putting the cap on the tube before he's plopped into the water.

And then the soaping, which is quite a job, because he's ticklish. . . . Soap his ears and wash his neck and scrub those dirty knees and rinse him off and answer questions: Why is soap slippery? Where does water come from and where does it go? And why does it get dark and where does the sun go to bed and where's the moon NOW? And can daddy make a gurgle-gurgle noise like the water going down the pipe? . . . And all shiny-wet, he goes into the big bath towel and comes out again looking so clean and pink and innocent that you hardly know that small boy. . . Then into his pajamas and a drink of water into him and a race to his room and he kicks off his slippers and he puts away his treasures so he'll see them first thing in the morning—and then he has to "love you and hug you" and he's under the covers and looking at the lights out the window.

And you tell him good night and put out the light and go quietly down the hall. It was fun giving him a bath—and it certainly IS a relief to have him in bed at last!

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:58. Sun rises tomorrow 7:20.

A lot of folks are already worrying about the groundhog seeing his shadow on February 2. We think a groundhog knows about as little about the weather as he does about other things. Anyhow, any fool groundhog who goes out to see his shadow on a cold day is a bum.

Most men have an alibi committed even before the warrant is issued.

And only a fool dandelion will get gay and show itself this time of the year.

Question Asker—Do you drink?
Man—No.
Asker—Why don't you drink?
Man—My boss forbids it, my customers won't allow it and it goes against my conscience.
Asker—Those are surely good reasons. What business are you in?
Man—I'm a bartender.

It costs less to burn the midnight oil than it does to be continually flooding the carburetor.

We wonder if there are still people in this country who think hanging is terrible after reading the kidnapping stories these days. Hanging by the neck seems to be just too easy.

SOLD !

Barber anxious to make a sale: "Better than that, sir. We give an excellent comb with every bottle."

At last we know why women gossip more than men. A scientist discovers that they can talk 20 per cent faster.

It is said there will be no changes in President Roosevelts' cabinet. We would not want a job in it and in fact we would not want to be president under present conditions, not only in this country, but in the world. There will have to be some good judgment used in Washington and also all over this country in the next few years.

UNLUCKY

Two negroes were bemoaning their hard luck, when one said: "Why, nigger, I am so onlucky dat if it was raining soup my plate would be turned upside down."

The other replied: "Dat's nothing compared wid my luck. Why, if it was raining money I'd be in jail."

NO MORE USE FOR HIM

An Irishman came into the office of the president of the Illinois Central railroad and said:

"Me name's Casey. Oi worruk out in th' yar-r-ds. Oi'd loik a pass to St. Louis."

"That is no way to ask for a pass," said the president. "You should introduce yourself politely. Come back in an hour and try it again."

At the end of the day back came the Irishman. Doffing his hat, he inquired: "Are yez the man I saw before?"

"I am."

"Me name is Patrick Casey. Oi've been workin' out in the yar-r-ds."

"Glad to know you, Mr. Casey. What can I do for you?"

"Oi've got a job an' a pass to St. Louis on th' Wabash. Yez can go to hell."

TODAY'S STORYETTE

August Heckscher, the New York capitalist tells this real estate story:

"At the time of the Florida boom" he said, "a Northerner bought some Florida land, sight unseen. When the boom was over, he went South to look his purchase over. It was a great disappointment and he told a real estate agent to sell it for him.

"What did the land cost you?" the agent asked.

"Eight dollars a foot," said the Northerner.

"And what are you willing to sell it for?"

"Ten cents a gallon.'

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR MISS MARKEL—An acquaintance of mine has recently announced her engagement. When I next see her how should I approach her on this subject . . . just what should I say? I. C.

Answer—Do not congratulate her! Offer her your best wishes and congratulate her fiance when next you meet him. You might say to her: "I've heard the good news and wish you the greatest of happiness."

This same rule applies to a man and a woman who have recently married.

Dear Miss Markel—I am to be maid-of-honor at my sister's wedding. It has been my intention to wear a white evening dress (the wedding taking place at 7 o'clock in the evening) but my sister thinks I should wear a color and that she should be the only one in white. Could you advise me on this point? P. S.

Answer—I think your sister is correct. It would be definitely better for you to wear a color. On that day of days a bride wants to be outstanding and she would be set off to perfection were she the only one in white.

Fight On Over Child Labor. Is President's Bitterest Battle. Immediate Ratification Doubtful.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

ONE OF THE bitterest fights being waged by President Roosevelt is not in congress. It is in state legislatures.

The child labor amendment to the constitution requires 12 more states to give it the necessary three-fourths to make it an enactment. Twenty-four states have ratified, 12 have not.

The president's letter to the recalcitrant states has been published. But the letters of those lobbying against the amendment have not been published. They would make an interesting volume for future historians.

The twelve states, and the probabilities in each are here recorded:

NEW YORK: Tammany and the Republicans have persistently prevented ratification, the bill for ratification now even getting out of committee. Possibilities have not improved—unless the president can turn on extraordinary heat, with public opinion.

TENNESSEE: Governor - Elect Gordon Browning is opposed.

FLORIDA: Governor Fred P. Cone, who has just assumed office, is in favor, but possibilities seem doubtful.

KENTUCKY: Governor A. B. Chandler is in favor.

CONNECTICUT: Always a holdout on federal amendments—and still is.

MARYLAND: Says it is enforcing its own labor laws—which means that opposition to federal amendment is strong.

NORTH CAROLINA: Governor Clyde R. Hoey, new executive, favors federal amendment—but mill interests are powerful.

SOUTH CAROLINA: Hardly a chance.

TEXAS: Hardly a chance.

SOUTH DAKOTA: Desires congress to present a new amendment to the states, saying that present amendment is "unfair to farmers".

MISSOURI: Has a possibility, due to increasing progressivism in St. Louis and Kansas City.

KANSAS: May have a chance since it has New Deal administration.

NEBRASKA: Again, the farm issue—but Nebraska has a progressive administration.

NEW MEXICO: Perhaps a chance.

MASSACHUSETTS: Mill interests powerful, and fearful of southern competition.

RHODE ISLAND: Mill interests powerful.

VERMONT: A stand-pat state.

DELAWARE: Has begun to show progressive leanings.

GEORGIA: May heed the advice of the president, its adopted son, but many elements are opposed.

From the foregoing you will see that ratification is doubtful, although enthusiasts predict it by spring.

A CASE OR TWO

An instance of child labor is presented in "The American Child", publication of The National Child Labor committee:

"Occasional reports of state labor departments, occasional newspaper clippings—when conditions are so flagrant as to come to the attention of the press—bear witness that our returning prosperity is being accompanied by resumption, in some sections at least, of the pre-NRA sweatshop conditions against which the entire country revolted in 1933.

"Recently reported is the case of the —— Shirt company in North Carolina, which, among other counts, was charged with employing a 17-year-old girl for 69 hours in one week. The total pay for the week which included eight hours on Sunday amounted to $5.53—just eight cents an hour. An attorney for the employer claimed that this was 'an act of charity' on the part of the employer who gave the girl work so that, among other things, she could be near her mother. Another girl in the factory, 15 years old, testified that she was paid the munificent sum of $4.93 for two weeks on piece work. Other victims gave similar testimony.

"Citing the case of the 17-year-old, the Fayetteville (N. C.) Observer comments editorially: "When competition becomes keener the eight-centers will be the underseller and the ethical employers will be forced to reduce expenses to meet this price-cutting situation,' and suggests that the ethical manufacturers 'find some way of joining hands with ethical labor organizations in effectually obliterating the operation of persons and companies whose profits depend not on service and quality, but in paving off poverty with hunger wages.'

"Ratification of the child labor amendment would remove at least one threat constantly faced by decent employers—that their goods will be undersold by firms employing eight-cents-an-hour youngsters."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE HUMAN EQUASION

John Jones is a dairy farmer in a famous dairy state. All the surrounding counties are likewise largely occupied by dairy farmers.

For years John Jones has sold his products for whatever he could get—and his bargaining power was practically non-existent.

Finally, John Jones and a number of other farmers got together. They formed an organization through which the products of all of them would be sold through one central office. They put up their money to get the organization going and to hire a manager.

The result was a vast increase in bargaining power with buyers—and fairer prices.

There, in a few words, is the simple story of how most agricultural selling cooperatives start and operate. There's no mystery about them—they simply represent proven business principles applied to farming.

This is fine and dandy, but these cooperative associations are directed by humans. All humans are interested in other people's business are tempted to take a little more each year from the income and pay a little less to the producers. Some of these agricultural associations have been wrecked by too wolfish officers. Too often the member after delivering his year's work to the association gets a statement showing he owes the association. They call it a "Red Ink" statement.

When well and honestly administered, the "John Jones" profit very well.

You can estimate a nation's armament oy observing how easily its national honor is hurt.

Today's Yesterdays—Jan. 15, 1715. Thomas Walker was born in Gloucester county, Va., a future notable explorer. His achievements are usually overlooked in school texts.

He had become a physician with a practice at Fredericksburg, Va., when he began his historic journeys into the unknown land in the west. He was the first white man to enter Kentucky, preceding Daniel Boone by 13 years. He discovered Cumberland Gap and Cumberland river and named them both.

Jan. 15, 1783.—The Earl of Stirling died in Albany, N. Y., aged 57, of gout. As William Alexander, this wealthy aristocrat, one of the founders of King's college (Columbia) had fought with distinction on the American side in the Revolution!

Jan. 15, 1852.—Railroad trains crossed a river without a bridge or ferry! To provide a short cut between Baltimore and Philadelphia, tracks were laid across the solidly-frozen Susquehanna and 1,378 cars and 10,000 tons of freight were hauled across it in the course of the regular service that continued for 10 days.

YANKEE RUN IS REPORTED HIGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Scores of families were marooned by flood waters in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio today, bringing back visions of the disastrous St. Patrick's day inundation of last March.

A fifth of the population of Solvin, a little mining community of 1,000 in Washington county, was reported marooned in their homes today when a small creek overflowed. Several score homes were reported surrounded by water four and five feet deep. Hip boots were being used by many.

Swollen Yankee Run, fed by more than 24 hours of heavy rains, forced a dozen families in Masury, O., from their homes when it poured over its banks. Aid of Sharon police and fire departments was requested to move the marooned families to higher and drier ground. Street car service between Youngstown and Sharon was halted by surging waters which covered the tracks.

In Wheatland, near Sharon, a number of families were forced to flee their homes and several small manufacturing plants were forced to suspend operations when the Shenango overflowed its banks.

With 1.75 inches of rai yesterday and last night, the Allegheny river leaped up seven feet here over night. The reading was 18 feet at the city pump house, three under flood stage. The official reading at Franklin was 14.58 at 9 o'clock against 6.53 at 8 a. m. yesterday. The river was still rising but the rain had stopped.

In Pittsburgh, the stage at the "Point" where the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio join was 18½ feet and will be 23 or higher, W. S. Brotzman, U. S. weather forecaster, reported. Flood stage is 25 feet.

At Kane, 36 hours of steady rain ended with the instruments at the Spring Water company showing 1.76 inches. Mountain streams in the Allegheny watershed were rising rapidly. The mercury dropped from yesterday's high of 47 and hit 32 at 9 a. m.

Pope Insists On Sitting Up Today

(International News Service)

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 15.—Finding work his "only solace", Pope Pius insisted on sitting in his "bed-chair" for audiences at the Vatican today, despite a sleepless and pain-wracking night.

With renewed pains in the upper part of his right leg indicating his paralysis is spreading, the pontiff ignored the plea of Priest-Physician Father Gemelli that he return to his bed.

"There is no more to be done," he said. "Work is my only solace."

Unaware that secret preparations are being made to house the conclave of cardinals where his successor will be chosen, the pope heard mass in his wheel-chair.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful of us in our recent bereavement; the sudden illness and death of our beloved son, Wallace Wysner. Also, the state police, city officials and all who so willingly donated cars; also, for the many beautiful floral tributes. We especially thank Dr. Norris White of the First M. E. church for his helpfulness to us, and, to the singers and all who in anyway helped to make it easier for us to bear.

"Headlines" Promises Great Entertainment

JOHN HODGE

There are "HEADLINES" and "HEADLINES" and it is without a doubt, local folks will arrange their calendar of activities for the coming week, to give them the opportunity of reviewing one of the best local talent plays undertaken here entitled "HEADLINES." This show will be presented on the Cathedral stage, Thursday, January 21 and Friday, January 22.

"HEADLINES" is the second edition of the Kiwanis club "Showboat" plays to be given under the direction of Bill Martin, who needs no introduction to New Castleites, having put on a number of other successful plays of this type

The proceeds will be used for a good cause, the Underprivileged Child project and provides a splendid opportunity for citizens to give their assistance by getting a ticket, and receiving in return, a fine bit of entertainment.

A reporter dropped in last evening at the "Headlines" headquarters and was greatly impressed with the high spirited, hard working "troupers" going through their lines and routines.

In addition to the streamline choruses in snappy numbers, decked out in colorful costumes, many syncopating musical numbers and smash song hits, with every second a bombshell of laughs and excitement, the reporter gained a little insight into a few of the sketches to be presented, and is convinced that "Headlines" will surpass plays previously given.

A jamboree of "newshounds" given specific assignments, return with scoops such as "The Scoop"—a skit where boy and girl return from a night club—she becomes haughty and shoots her lover—presto!—a reporter is on the scene. It's a headline! These roles are enacted by Doris Updegraff, Dick Rentz, Bart Richards and William Allgier.

"Scandal in Mahoningtown" involves a husband returning home earlier than usual, to find a boy friend making love to his wife. Portraying the husband role is Herb Smith, the boy friend, Jack Bruce, and the wife, Katherine Wagner.

Another skit, "Fifty Years Ago Today." Bill Martin portrays what Kiwanis "Showboat" presentations would have looked like on the stage in the days of long ago. The scene is laid about a farm house. Ma Corntassle, (Elmer Williams), a poor but honest housewife, and Joyce Corntassle (DeLace Cole) is the hard-hearted farmer husband. The love interest is provided by Joyce Corntassle (Amil LeLenko) and Toby Whipsocket (Don Huffman), the former being the innocent daughter of Ma and Pa Corntassle. Jellatine Corntassle (Johnny Hodge) is the wayward daughter of the rural family who goes to the big city and returns with a child. Dudley Horsebuttle (Lew Pearsall) is the man who holds the mortgage on the Corntassle homestead. Just a bit of the spice on the program, that will bring hurricanes of laughter.

"Headlines," a newspaper story that fairly bubbles over with spontaneous entertainment from the time the curtain rises until the finale—will be one gala "Towne Party" that everyone will want to see.

Await Opening Of Farm Show At State Capital

Harrisburg Will Be Center Of Interest As Annual Agricultural Exhibit Opens

ENTRIES ARE MOST IN YEARS

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Pennsylvania's farm show, the "State Fair" of the Keystone state, will become Harrisburg's magnet for drawing 350,000 farmers from every corner of the commonwealth next week.

To be highlighted by an address by United States Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, the show will offer 7500 awards amounting to approximately $39,213 in cash and many of America's most coveted agricultural trophies.

Extensive preparations were under way for the show, the largest in recent years, the 10-acre farm show building being divided up to display the commonwealth's choice agricultural products and achievements.

Additional space is being decorated for the scientific displays of 340 commercial exhibitors, only half the number that applied for space.

Simultaneous with the show, annual conventions will be held by more than 40 agricultural associations. Much of the available space in hotels and independent rooming houses has already been spoken for and show time is expected to find many delegates "in the lurch."

Recognized as the "largest indoor farm products show in the United States," the show will present more than 11,000 entries in the competitive fields. There will be 4,000 poultry exhibits and 130 hogs will compete for the "Blue Boy" honors.

COAL SHIPMENTS MOST IN YEARS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—"King coal's" coffers last year yielded the richest output of "black gold" since 1930.

Production in 1936 was 40 per cent above that of the previous year, coal officials announced, and only fog, which delayed river traffic, and the holiday shutdown in December protected the all-time monthly record.

During the past year a total of 24,947,314 tons of coal were shipped, 7,249,286 tons more than the previous year which showed a tonnage of 17,698,028.

ACHING HEADS AND SPOTTY EYES

Don't let constipation ruin your health. Read Mr. Davidson's message of cheer: "Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sure been a godsend to me. This is the first relief I have ever had. Believe me, I will be a booster for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as long as I live!"—C. T. Davidson, 722 N St., Sacramento, Calif.

Common constipation may lead to many diseases. Unpleasant breath, blotchy complexions, spots before the eyes—are only forerunners of worse to come.

Conquer constipation with a delicious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Simply eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Serve it with milk or fruits. Cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

You'll prefer this delightful, natural way instead of the artificial action of pills and drugs. Buy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

OPERATES IN AMBULANCE

(International News Service)

VIENNNA, Jan. 15.—A unique life-saving operation was performed by a local practitioner in an ambulance on the road between Baden, lower Austria, and Vienna. A woman-patient, suffering from a severe abscess in the windpipe, was transferred in an ambulance from Baden to a Vienna hospital. When only a short distance from Vienna she showed signs of suffocation, and she would have died before reaching the hospital, if the accompanying physician, Dr. J. Kern of Baden, had not the presence of mind to conduct an operation in the ambulance on the roadside. He cut her throat and saved her life.

Hints On Etiquette

The new etiquette does not look with favor upon stilted speech. The first law of good speech is to say the natural, spontaneous thing in a natural, spontaneous way.

Maybe you can't be rich or well-born, but you can be very, very righteous and get the same snooty feeling.

Would Protect Dogs From Autos

Bill Will Be Introduced Requiring Drivers To Report Striking Canines

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—A law to protect man's best friend, the dog, from hit-and-run motorists will be presented to the legislature for enactment during the present session under sponsorship of humane societies throughout the state.

Under a law drawn up by the legal division of the Federation of Humane Societies of the State of Pennsylvania the automobile code would be amended to make it a violation for a motorist to fail to report striking a dog. Specific penalties would be provided for any motorist failing to stop and give assistance to a dog injured by his car under the proposed act, according to William F. H. Wentzel, head of the local humane society.

Titans To Play Slippery Rock

Game Is On Schedule For Saturday Night At New Wilmington

DEMO AND GRUBB ARE GOING FINE

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 15—After being trimmed last week by a close score, 37-34, Coach Kerr Thompson's Rockets from Slippery Rock will travel to New Wilmington, Saturday, January 16, to meet Coach George Roark's Titans in another double-header, a freshman tilt at 7 o'clock, with the varsity game scheduled for 8:15.

Slippery Rock had the edge by one basket over the Roarkmen in last week's contest, with the Titans nine charity tosses furnished the necessary edge to win. Westminster will have to guard better the shots of Truman and Axtell, Rocket scoring aces, if they expect to come out with a second victory. Twelve baskets were garnered by the two Rocket veterans against Westminster, for 24 of the 34 points scored by the teachers.

Westminster has two consistently good scorers in Demo and Grubb, both juniors. Demo playing sixth man on last year's championship aggregation has registered 41 points in four games, or seventeen field goals and ten fouls; while Grubb, lanky Youngstown boy at the pivot position for the Roarkmen, has scored 45 points on eighteen field goals and nine charity tosses. Next in scoring for the Titans is "Susie" Gilliland, New Wilmington forward, with 26 points scored on 11 field goals and four fouls. Krivosh, veteran Titan guard, flashed through in scoring fashion in only one game against Youngstown, when he garnered 10 points to bring his season's total to 14.

Roark will probably start Demo, Grubb, Gilliland, Miller and Krivosh against the Rockets Saturday night.

Jesus The Water Of Life

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 4:14—"Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Jan. 17 is John 4:1-54, the Golden Text being John 4:14, "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst.")

This fourth chapter of John is a marvelous clinic in soul saving in which Christian workers may study the technique Jesus used in the saving of the woman of Samaria at Jacob's well.

A Passion For Souls

There must first be a passion for souls. It was this that kept Jesus from detouring around Samaria as others of his people did in going from Judaea to Samaria: "He must needs pass through Samaria." Again we must be willing to have our own plans disturbed as Jesus was willing that his rest be disturbed that noon as he "being wearied with his journey sat thus (as he was) at the well."

Tactfulness Of Approach

We must learn to approach the subject of sin and salvation with the utmost tactfulness, as Jesus did when he asked the woman for a drink of water, that he might reveal himself to her as the source of the water of life: "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldst have asked of him and he would have given thee living water." And how tactfully Jesus approached the subject of this woman's sin: "Go, call thy husband and come hither." And when she said she had none to call, Jesus referred to the man with whom she was living in sin, and brought from her a full confession, doubtless attended with the evidence of genuine repentance. Thus was half her conversion effected in making her see herself as a sinner in need of salvation.

Avoid Religious Argument

The woman tried to divert Christ from his course by raising an argument over the relative merits of her people's religion and his, but he held to the main issue: "God is a Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth,' regardless of where they worship. And when the woman spoke of the coming Messiah, that is called Christ, he was quick to reveal himself to her as the fulfillment of this hope of his people and hers: "I that speak unto thee am he." This is the great objective of evangelism, to bring the unsaved to a consciousness of sin and faith in Jesus Christ as their Savior able to save unto the uttermost all that come unto God through him. When Jesus' disciples, having prepared the noonday lunch, urged him to eat, he replied, "I have meat to eat that ye know not . . . . My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to accomplish his work." To Jesus the reaching of the unsaved was more important than food, and the source of greater joy and satisfaction.

Put The Saved To Work

Conversion should evidence itself in a changed life dedicated to the salvation of others. The woman of Samaria was so full of joy at finding Christ that she forgot her waterpot as she rushed back to the city to tell her friends of the Christ she had found as her Savior, and brought them out to find him as their Savior too: "Come, see a man, who told me all things that ever I did: Can this be the Christ?" "And from that city many of the Samaritans believed in him because of the word of the woman." She was not only saved, but saved to serve.

FARMERS OBTAIN HIGHER PRICES

HARRISBURG — December recorded the seventh consecutive rise in the index of prices paid Pennsylvania farmers for their pirncipal products bringing the total increase in points for the last seven months of 1936 to twenty-seven and placing the farmers on a basis of economic parity for the first time since prewar days, J. Hansell French, Secretary of Agriculture announced today on the basis of a Federal-State Crop Reporting Survey.

Economic parity for the farmers means that a reasonable relationship exists between the prices they receive for their products and the prices they pay for what they buy, such as prevailed in the period befor the war.

If you have any pity for a man on the spot, save it for the one finally ballyhooed as "the new Brisbane."

New Semester For Night Classes

WPA Adult Education Division Will Enroll New Students At Various Schools January 18

It is planned by Mrs. Agnes B. Howley, project head of adult education division of WPA for Lawrence county, that a new semester of night school will begin Monday evening, January 18.

Enrollment of new students will be held at this time in the North Street, Lincoln-Garfield and Mahoning schools for the various classes.

Many have taken advantage of this opportunity of furthering their education during their leisure time and it is anticipated that many new students will enroll in the various centers during the coming week. Information as to subjects and time will be given from the educational office, 508 Greer building.

Miss Mary James, instructor in shorthand and typing, will have new classes starting and any person who cannot afford to pay for a commercial course may enroll in her department. A number of persons have asked for a morning class in these subjects and if the number of enrollees warrants it, a morning class will be formed. Miss Esther Sibberson will also have bookkeeping classes.

Among Mrs. Howley's plans for the winter months is a general spelling class with spelling bees held at various times for the students in all departments.

The work of the adult education classes will culminate in a sesquicentennial celebration of the signing of the constitution of the United States, plans for which are now under way.

Next day this ad appeared in the same paper:

Hitch-Hiker Taken As Kidnap Suspect

Stopped By Officers At Casper, Wyoming, For Investigation Today

(International News Service)

CASPER, Wyo., Jan. 15.—A Denver-bound hitch-hiker was held by authorities here today as a suspect in the kidnaping and slaying of 10-year-old Charles Mattson.

The suspect, Edward Wachowicz, 28, of Saginaw, Mich., was riding with George Kittrell and Perry Stevens, who had been employed, they said, on the Grand Coulee dam project, when their automobile, bearing a Washington license, was stopped on the outskirts of Casper.

Kittrell and Stevens, who said they had picked up Wachowicz at San Francisco, were released and continued toward Denver.

Wachowicz bears a distinct resemblance to the official description of the kidnaper. He admitted having been in Seattle, Wash., recently but denied he was in the state of Wasington at the time of the kidnaping. Authorities said his story did not check in several details.

Sheriff Jack Allen of Casper, communicated with Sheriff John Bjorkland of Tacoma, Wash., and was requested to hold Wachowicz for G-men.

Fingerprints and a description of Wachowicz have been forwarded to Washington, D. C.

Wachowicz said he left Saginaw, Mich., after Christmas and hitchhiked to San Francisco, where he stayed one day, leaving last Saturday. He said he was unemployed and that he formerly was a moulder of auto parts at Saginaw.

New York And Pennsylvania Unemployed In Demonstration At Washington

(International News Service)

Sponsored by David Lasser, head of the Workers' Alliance of America, the strange procession began at the labor department.

A special detail of 50 policemen guarded the line of march.

P. R. R. Completes Huge Car Program

Seventh Ward Shops Scraps Some Of 32,000 Older Cars, Now Doomed

Work on 10,000 new freight cars, the construction of which was started early in 1936, has just been completed, Erie & Ashtabula division authorities of the Pennsylvania Railroad learned from their Philadelphia general offices today. Built in less than a year's time, these cars constitute the most important and extensive new equipment program in the Pennsylvania's history.

With the addition of this large number of cars to its freight equipment, the railroad, it was said, is in the process of scrapping 32,000 cars of older and less desirable types; yet with these cars removed from service the railroad's freight-handling capacity is geater than before.

Officials said the cost of the new cars approximates $25,000,000.

Division officials here reported that a small part of the scrapping of old cars is under way at the Seventh ward shops, but emphasized that the bulk of the word here is the rebuilding and repairing of cars.

'TIRED'

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—"I was just looking for a place to sleep" said Joe Sullivan.

But, the Louisville police court judge could find no evidence to support Sullivan's contention that lifting the rear seat of an automobile had anything to do with rest.

Neither could Patrolman Charles Taffee agree with the would-be "sleeper" after finding him in his parked automobile.

Sullivan got 30 days for vagrancy.

New Indictments Are On File Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—New bills of indictment had been returned by the specially reconvened U. S. grand jury here to replace those found typographically incorrect in the famous "Baker estate" case.

U. S. Attorney Charles P. Uhl said no new defendants in addition to the 28 in the original bills were named but it was necessary to return the new indictments because of errors found in the first bills.

NO LIE

A young man at a winter resort hotel prided himself on his ability to sing, although he was terribly out of tune.

"Do you sing?" asked a young lady, sweetly.

"Oh," replied he, with assumed modesty, "only when I'm on my own!"

"You go ahead and sing!" said a man near by. "You'll soon be alone!"

Colder Weather To Halt Floods

U. S. Weather Bureau Says Temperature Will Drop In 36 Hours

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 15.—Relief from flood conditions prevailing over much of Ohio as a result of heavy rains during the last 24 hours was indicated today in the forecast of the U. S. weather bureau for a sharp temperature drop during the next 36 hours. Much colder weather, accompanied by snow flurries, but with no more rain in sight, was forecasted.

Rainfall over the state averaged about two inches in the last 24 hours. In Columbus the sheriff was called upon to remove marooned lowland dwellers in boats.

Wheeling, W. Va., reported the Ohio river rising six inches an hour and expected to reach a crest of 39 feet by midnight. Flood stage there is 36 feet

Heavy damage was reported at Marietta, where the Ohio river level rose three feet since midnight to a 24-foot stage.

Small streams in that vicinity were out of their banks and traffic on main roads was halted. South of Marietta, Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks were carried down onto the highway skirting the river.

Government weather observers predicted a maximum river stage of 32 feet at Marietta, due late tomorrow. This would be four feet below the danger line.

Rainfall from Parkersburg, W. Va., to Wheeling during the night averaged 1.33 inches.

The coroner was also probing the death of John W. Hauck, 60, of Dubois, killed Thursday morning when struck on the street here by the car of F. M. Timlin, Dubois merchant, according to authorities. Hauck died instantly.

General Sherman, credited with saying, "War is Hell," declared that he did not remember uttering such a remark.

ADDITIONS TO LIBRARY

Recently several very nice donations have been made to our library in the form of magazines. Misses Ellen and Pauline Young have given a complete two-year file of the "Fortune" magazines. Louis Round has added a subscription to "Boy's Life" to our collection of periodicals.

The students are taking an interest in improving our library. Harry Chambers, of the Sophomore class, is giving the "American Boy." All these gifts will be greatly appreciated by the student body both for reference and enjoyable fiction.

OLYMPIC PICTURES SHOWN

Monday morning, January 11, found most of the sports followers in school, assembled in the auditorium to witness the moving pictures of the Olympic games in Berlin, brought here by Ralph Gardner. The exploits of Jesse Owens, Woodruff, Glenn Morris, and all the rest were shown. The pictures were enjoyed by all who saw them.

SENIOR HI-Y SESSION

New Castle Senior Hi-Y held its regular weekly meeting on Monday, January 11, in the Y. M. C. A. club room. After an effective introductory talk by Henry McNichols, the club settled down to the business at hand.

A motion was made and passed that the club would hold a banquet for the retiring members on January 25. The following committees were appointed for the affair: general committee, Willis Raney, chairman; Kenneth McConnell, Tom Huston; decorations, James Merrilees, Bill Ellgas, Frank Annecillo. After the discussion of some routine business matter, the club adjourned in the usual manner with the friendship circle.

M. L. NIXON SPEAKS

The Lincoln Hi-Y held its regular weekly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday. The club enjoyed a very interesting talk by M. L. Nixon, the naval recruiting officer, on "The National Defense."

A nomination committee was appointed by President Tom McCormick. The committee includes George Gardner, Dale Clobus, Willis Campbell, and Bill Francis. This committee met after the regular meeting to make nominations for the new officers to be elected next meeting. All members are asked to be at the next meeting for the election of officers.

CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Tuesday, the work of the state's conservation department was illustrated and explained by Robert Fuess, district conservation head. Mr. Fuess enlightened and instructed the students in respect to the marvelous work that is being done in our state forests.

RIFLE CLUB FORMED

Because of interest of students a rifle club is being formed under the management of William Klee. This activity was allowed to lapse several years ago but an up and coming club has now been started. It is expected that there will be at least two meets a month in the school gym.

DINK-IFIED SENIORS

That blue note around Ne-Ca-Hi isn't due to any tragedy but to the arrival of the dinks for the Senior A class. The girls' dinks are made in tam o' shanter style in blue with tassel, the school initials, the year, and the owner's name all in silver. The boys' dinks are of alternated blue and silver satin in jockey cap style, also with the school initials, year, and owner's name in silver.

Our important seniors are flaunting them proudly and it is the unshakeable opinion of the rest of the student body that the seniors won't even part with their new dinks while sleeping.

NE-CA-HI PERSONALS

Mrs. Viola Healy, head of the home economic department, has been admitted to the hospital. The student body is anxious for her speedy recovery and hopes she will be able to resume her duties in a very short time.

During Mrs. Healy's absence her place is being very capably filled by Mrs. Elenor Foster.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Prefer Strikes Against Marches

Capital Would Rather See Sit-Down Strikes Than Marches Of Malcontents On City

GENERAL COXEY STARTED FASHION

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Sit-down strikes are reported to be regarded by employers as a particularly malignant development in labor warfare.

Congress, the administration and the District of Columbia authorities, however, vastly prefer them to marches of malcontents upon the national capital.

The longer a discontented element will sit down at a long distance from the Potomac and stay there the better official Washington likes it.

Nevertheless threats are heard of a series of treks in this direction from far-away points throughout the country of these protesting folk converging thitherward.

From the White House on down to the city police force these hints give the shivers to the powers they are intended, in plain terms, to intimidate.

COXEY'S WAS FIRST

So far as I know, the capital-ward march of General Coxey's army was the first of these demonstrations.

It was so far in the past that I don't remember much of it. I think it was an incident of the depression of the early 1890's. My recollection is that the Capitol police were formidable enough to shoo the army back from their grounds and prevent a serious disturbance.

Still, such displays are semi-revolutionary in tone; they frighten conservative statesmen.

THEN—DURING DEPRESSION

There was not another big one until some time after the industrial smash-up of 1929, when Father Cox, a Roman Catholic clergyman in Pittsburgh, led a huge delegation from many parts of the republic to the Capitol Plaza to demand proletarian rights from the lawmakers.

I remember that all right.

Congress was alarmed a-plenty. The Capitol building was barricaded as if for a siege. Only small groups were allowed to get in, to submit their grievances, but the rest milled about on the grounds outside, which is strictly forbidden. The police, however, were afraid to scatter them.

THE BONUS BATTLE

Then came the bonus encampment against which President Hoover called out the United States army.

The army won, indeed, but I miss my guess if its victory did not do its bit toward beating the Californian for re-election to the White House.

Shortly after the bonus battle I had occasion to be riding by bus across South Dakota. In the front of the bus was a passenger who proclaimed himself a Hooverite. "Never" proclaimed a woman in the rear, who overheard him, "will I vote for a man who gassed those bonus babies." "Did he gas 'em—and didn't they die?" yelled the other passengers. "Certainly, they died like flies," screamed the woman.

She converted that whole busload.

Such are the political effects of bonus battles.

F. D. R.'s LUCK

President Roosevelt had a march on him, too, shortly after his inauguration.

He stopped it at the line between Maryland and the District of Columbia.

It had to camp out on the Maryland side, the weather was bad, the campers were mightily uncomfortable, and they scattered before they had time to become seriously troublesome.

But it can't always be gambled that a strike march will be so effectively halted.

DISCUSSES WPA EMPLOYMENT SURVEY

Dear Editor:

In the issue of The News under date of January 9, Page 14, there appeared an article regarding survey showing the employment of a large number of aliens on the WPA.

This article stated there were 750 employes who were born in foreign lands of which half this number, or 375 were not citizens of our country. About 185 of these have not been interested enough in our country to even take out their first papers while approximately 190 had only taken out their first papers.

During the past three years our city council, school board and township directors have appropriated a half million dollars for the purpose of sponsoring local WPA projects. This money has been for the purpose of supplying the tools and materials used on the various projects.

The money so spent has been paid into the various local treasuries through taxation upon the properties or homes of the local citizens.

I respect the man who comes to our shores from a foreign land, finds that he likes our country and later decides to become a part of our country and a supporter of our government by seeking naturalization, but I cannot see the justification of taxing American citizens and using such taxation for the purpose of providing employment for those who have not sworn allegiance to our country.

The article in The News stated that the survey showed 185 of these WPA employes had no papers to show legal entry into this country.

Is is fair for we property owners to be taxed for the purpose of providing employment for these 185 men as well as the balance of the 375?

Is is fair for our city council to appropriate money received from taxpayers, many of whom find it very difficult to pay, in order to provide for these men in question?

It seems to the writer reasonable to suppose that our city councilmen have some voice in the selection of the men used on these WPA jobs, either directly or through their subordinate city officers, but in some cases, when they are approached by a citizen and taxpayer for their assistance in securing a job on a WPA project, they shrug their shoulders, "pass the buck" and say there is nothing they can do about it.

I do not want to appear selfish in this matter, but I am opposed to our councilmen using the taxpayers money to purchase tools and materials in order to provide employment for these men who have illegally entered our country as long as some of our taxpaying citizens are unemployed and anxious to get employment to provide for their families and save their homes.

Yours very truly,
M. A. MULCAHY,
314 Northview Ave.,
City.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

FIRST COUNTIES

Do you know that the first counties to be organized in Pennsylvania were Chester, Philadelphia and Bucks?

The organization began in 1682. There were no boundaries designated farther than the lines separating the counties where they joined each other, their limits in all other directions extending to the borders of the province. The lines of separation were confined by the provincial council on April 2, 1685.

Lancaster was the fourth county to be organized. Twenty years later York county was erected, and by the act of January 27, 1750, Cumberland was founded. Bedford was later taken from Cumberland county and was the last one to be organized before the Revolutionary War.

Musical Comedy At Senior High School Tonight

Music Department To Benefit By Funds Realized By Performance

Do you remember "Lelawala"? Remember who took the part of Lelawala, the Maid of Niagara? That girl with the charming soprano voice. Remember when she sang those Indian songs that you have been singing in your heart ever since. She is cast as Mitzi, the switchboard operator.

And do you remember that flirtatious colonial girl, Clarinda, the one with the flashy eyes, who had the big romance with the captain of the colonial soldiers? This time she comes to you as Mrs. Kroggins, the wife of the Kodfish King, Kasper Kroggins. Wait until you see and hear the hysterical commotion she causes in the studios of WTNT.

Can you recall, or are you still laughing about Lord Tatler, the uppish English lord with the monocle? Remember how comely some of the Indian maidens were to him? Tonight you will see him as J. Bottomley Binks, announcer at station WTNT.

And football fans, do you remember this last football season when that high school band made your feet tap to stirring marches and urged our team on to victory? And remember when they almost froze to death on Thanksgiving Day, just to bring you music? Do your part as a New Castle citizen now and come and help these boys carry on. This can only be brought about by your financial aid.

Play-goers, remember the orchestra that made "between-acts" more pleasant for many a high school play? You'll be helping them, too, when you come and see "Tune In", the most studious musical production ever staged at the high school.

"Turn Out" to see "Tune In" and aid the music department in securing new uniforms and new instruments.

DYNAMITE
(International News Service)

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 15.—A boy picked up a stick and a traffic jam followed. The stick which James Glidden, 14, picked up near Lynn hospital, however, was a stick of dynamite. Learning the deadly nature of his discovery from a passerby, James ran to traffic officer William C. Cody, on duty in Federal street. Cody held up traffic while he assigned another policeman to guard the dynamite. Later, normalcy returned to Lynn when the dynamite was tossed into Lynn harbor.

GROVE CITY WOMAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

GROVE CITY, Jan. 15.—Miss Martha Adams, 28, of Grove City R. D. 3, is recovering from injuries received when an automobile driven by her brother, Crawford Adams, struck and broke off a telephone pole on Route 8, Franklin-Harrisville road.

Mr. Adams swerved his car to avoid a collision with a car driven by Walter Bertschi, Buffalo, N. Y., salesman. The later was arrested and fined $10 and costs for illegally passing another vehicle, at a hearing before Squire B. F. McCurdy of Barkeyville.

COAL FIRE
(International News Service)

GREENFIELD, Mass., Jan. 15.—After smoke had filled her nome for two days, Miss Mary Cummings called in a plumber to fix what she thought was a faulty furnace. The plumber discovered that the source of the smoke was burning coal in a coal bin. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

Thoughts Come While Strolling

McIntyre's Walks Bring Many Things To Mind In New York Streets

HEADLINE FAME SOON FORGOTTEN

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Thoughts while strolling: For oblivion—those careless souls who cannot follow the simplest play without lighting matches for program peeks. Remember the Iroquois! And a hail for Ethel Merman who makes cameos of words so that every vowel and consonent are understandable.

O. O. McIntyre

A dream walking: Lillian Gish. The Lambs "stage struck sailor" Bob Hague. Tableau for Esquire; Ernest Hemingway popping away at clay pipes in a Sixth Ave. shooting gallery. Abel Green lives up to his first name. Memory: The button hook slipped down the side of high button shoes.

Sundown scene on the upper East Side: Mayor Walker airing his frisky Irish terriers. When I fly, Ill take Dick Merrill for the controls. Soothing radio voice: Nellie Revell's.

Sumner Blossom. Still another of the Kansas City Star boys who edits a big magazine.

Rhyme: Jack Lait is a grand old skate. A word almost every writer misuses: Diction. It is an attribute necessary to authors and not at all necessary to actors. And many French scholars think the loveliest sounding English word is "cellar-door:" A golden ring!

If Doris Duke ever lost her millions she could do all right as one of those tall, slinky mannikins. Chilly name for a warm-hearted guy: Obie Winters. The cute way Bill Robinson cocks his derbied head, sparrow like. New York credo 1937: No matter what happens—let us be gay!

Oozing A. L. Alexander, off the ozone was a heart wrench, they say, for the originator of the Good Will Court. He was for many years a hard working announcer with an eye for the step upward. And when his idea jelled, was accepted and furthermore granted the coveted Sunday hour once reserved for Major Bowes, it seemed to the broadcasting world that a new radio rajah had arrived. But as quickly as he rose, the curtain dropped, leaving Alexander bewildered and crushed. Lawyers, who thought his offering invaded their domain, crabbed his act with an injunction.

Nothing tarnishes so quickly as that fame created by headline notoriety. At Reuben's the other midnight they were crumpling crumpets and recalling names of beautiful show girls—four in particular—whose names used to bubble like champagne. One this winter sang for her supper in a shattered Dream Street cafeteria. Then one, who got more headlines than the war in Spain, as a beautiful figure in a celebrating murder. She's now submerged in a cellar cabaret. Another models dresses that her maid in the old days would have discarded. Still another was wed to a dish-washer with a ready-made family of five.

That was agreeable snooping for the Bibliophile in Rockefeller Center this winter at the Book Fair. A panorama of surprises including the J. P. Morgan loaned Gutenberg Bible, first editions and original manuscripts such as those of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn, Vanity Fair and some Kipling poems. If anyone believes all authors write like Greely, he would get a surprise in viewing Conan Doyle mss for the Sherlock Holmes tale, "The Empty House." It is a model of neatness and precision. A masculine version of the clean cut chirography of Kathleen Norris.

Katharine Brush of the modern authors, writes a strikingly clear and stately hand. Faith Baldwin also swings a meticulous pen. As do Louis Bromfield, Somerset Maugham, Fannie Hurst. A tough one for editors is a hurriedly written note from Sinclair Lewis.

One of the best ham-streak stories concerns the talented Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in their first film. Alfred, scoring the cinema, declined to see the picture. So Miss Fontanne went alone. When she returned, he withstood her silence long as possible and then asked about the film. She said: "Oh, Alfred it was terrible. I looked badly. I acted badly. I read badly. I was simply awful."

"And how was I?" he queried.

"You were marvelous. Perfect pronunciation and characterization. A little too much make-up on your lips, but you were great. I, though, was miserable, everything was wrong with me....."

"Ah," interrupted Alfred, "too much make-up on my lips, eh?"

Heirloom Custodian

Mrs. Madeline B. Gill, Deland, Fla., owns 49 trunks filled with gorgeous velvet, silk and flowered brocade gowns and wraps once belonging to princesses, queens and countesses. Mrs. Gill obtained the almost priceless collection when she was secretary to Princess Mercy Argentaur, the last of the royal lineage dating back to Constantine's court. Her mother was a popular princess in Napoleon's court.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council sanction was granted Finance Director James L. Fink during council meeting to borrow $40,000 from a local bank with which to pay current bills until sufficient taxes arrive at the city treasury to meet debts. Under a resolution adopted recently and which became effective immediately upon passage, the city was authorized to borrow any part of $100,000.

Order of Police Chief Ralph Criswell that owners of automobiles which bear 1936 license plates must remove the cars from public streets, is a precedent here. The owners have 24 hours more with which to comply with the order, otherwise the cars will be towed to garages.

Not long ago a city hall attache said that if $100,000 worth of delinquent tax were paid the city and placed in general revenue this would equal about two mills. However, if this were done it would result in council not having money with which to buy materials for improvements made by WPA labor. Within a short time council will be required to set up a fund derived from delinquent taxes to pay for the materials used in 1937 projects. Approximately $7,000 was appropriated in the budget.

Council has instructed the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications for a mechanical barn screen which will be installed at the sewage disposal plant. This was ordered by the State Department of Health. For several years council delayed about complying with the request but last fall promised the screen would be installed early this year. Yesterday council received a letter from C. H. Young, district engineer, state board of health, in which recalled the promise and asked that the installation take place. The screen will cost several thousand dollars. The money was appropriated in the budget.

Attorney Robert White appeared before city council, acting as a board of tax appeals yesterday. Before and after the session he was welcomed to the building by the attaches, all of whom are firm friends of the former solicitor. Incidentally it might be said that White served 18 years as city solicitor and not once during that time did he have a vacation. In fact, White was on the job in city hall every day during that time excepting when he was busy in court or ill. Yesterday's appearance was the first he made to city hall since last summer.

The purpose of the dinner was to give the girls experience in planning and serving an entire meal.

The Bessemer Reserves played Mahoning Junior High School in basketball on the Bessemer floor Tuesday afternoon, the Bessemerites winning by the score of 12-10.

Wearing classy new suits of black satin trimmed with red, the Bessemer girls defeated the Mt. Jackson girls in a close and hard-fought battle, Friday, January 8. The score was 34-33.

The varsity basketball teams have a full week with three games away from home. Tuesday, both red and black teams defeated the highly touted Wampumites, the girls topping the Wampum lassies 29-18, while the Bessemer boys were victorious to the tune of 29-17.

Tonight, they meet the strong Boyd machine on the Union floor, and on Saturday, their traditional rivals, Lowellville High, on the Lowellville court.

Previous to defeating Wampum, the boy's varsity team won both league games played, defeating East Brook, December 18, 21-19, and Mt. Jackson, January 8, 24-13.

Bradford Pool One Of World's Great Oil Fields

Eclipsed In Area Only By Big East Texas Pool

HARRISBURG—Bradford is one of the greatest oil fields of the world.

Since its discovery in 1871 in Northern Pennsylvania and a small section of New York, i has produced something like 359,050,000 barrels of oil and when tabulations for the country are completed for 1936 the field is expected to rank sixth among the oil fields of the United States in total yield. In 1936, according to preliminary reports, the field produced about 14,439,000 barrels, or a daily average of 39,500 barrels and it is estimated to contain something like 300 odd million barrels recoverable by present methods. Detailed geologic and recovery studies, started in 1926, have been completed and are ready for publication, according to statements made today by Secretary of Internal Affairs Thomas A. Logue.

The quantity of oil produced is not the only feature of the Bradford pool that makes it famous. Another point is that practically all the production has come from a single horizon, the Bradford Third sand. Furthermore, the field has proved to be productive over a continuous area of 84,000 acres, which gives it a major rank among the great pools of the United States, the recently discovered East Texas pool with an area of 116,580 acres being the only one that has a larger continuous productive area.

The Bradford oil field lies mainly in the north-central part of McKean county, but extends a short distance over into Cattaraugus county, New York. About 14 per cent of the area of the pool is in New York.

'Treasure Trove' Is Not Found

Searchers Do Not Know Which Way To Turn To Find $250,000 "Treasure Trove"

(International News Service)

DOVER, Del., Jan. 15.—Searchers knew not where to turn today in their quest for the "$250,000 treasure trove" described in the map dug from the cellar of the old Bayard house here.

Hasty examination of old maps and historical records failed to show the location of "Center Lane" or throw light on the identity of "Colonel C. R. Y.", writer of the treasure note found in the old-fashioned medicine bottle uncovered by workmen.

Assistant State Archivist Leon De Valenger and officials of the local recorder of deeds' office announced after a search of old documents they could find no trace of a center lane since the town was settled 300 years ago.

The three Lord brothers, owners of the Bayard house showed no excitement and said they would investigate the possibility of hidden gold after they finished digging a coal bin in the cellar.

It was pointed out in another quarter that searchers may have to dig under a main street or perhaps raze a building or two if the directions on the map are followed.

Industrialist Given Praise By Roosevelt

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—A letter of congratulations for performance of a "district public service" was in the mails today from Gov. George H. Earle to J. Harvey Gravell, Philadelphia Industrialist who paid the debts of all his employes for Christmas.

The letter, similar to one sent Gravell by President Roosevelt, said in part:

"I want to take advantage of this opportunity to join with the other liberals throughout the country in commendation of your recent distribution of $100,000 to your employes."

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Missing since Monday when she left for school, six-year-old Jean Seville was the object of a vigorous state police search throughout this district today.

Germany Honors A Girl Soldier

(International News Service)

DORTMUND, Germany, Dec. 28.—Victoria Sava, who as a girl fought in the Great war, has just been honored here.

At the age of 16, she was in the trenches, serving in the ranks of the German army and by the side of her father. They were both in the Tyroler Battalion.

She displayed conspicious courage in action and was awarded a medal for bravery. She became known as "the Heroine of the Three Turrets" for gallantry in a sector of the line so named.

In September, 1917, out on patrol in No Man's Land, she was severely wounded and lost a leg.

Now the German Association of Ex-Servicewomen has hailed her as a heroine, taken her under its protection and sent her to a home.

National Guard Officers Are On Company Payroll

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Fifteen of the 17 officers of the national guard in the Birmingham area are on the payroll of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company, the senate civil liberties committee was told today.

This testimony came from Yelverton Cowherd, Birmingham attorney and former chairman of the Americanization committee of a Birmingham American Legion post, as the committee continued its inquiry into flogging and labor disorders in the deep south.

Cowherd was brought to the witness stand by Senator LaFollette (P) of Wisconsin, chairman of the committee, in an attempt to throw light on the mysterious flogging last September of Joseph S. Gelders of Birmingham, southern representative for the defense of political prisoners.

Colmery Visits More Cities In Inspection Tour

National Commander Of American Legion Visits Western Pennsylvania Towns Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—After a day filled with activity in Pittsburgh, National Commander Harry W. Colmery, the Braddock boy who became head of the American Legion, was in Charleroi, Monessen, Bellevue and Swissvale today, the second day of his three-day tour of inspection in Western Pennsylvania.

Colmery was met by a contingent of Legionnaires headed by State Department Commander Walter J. Kress, of Johnstown. He was sped to a reception, then to the veterans hospital at Aspinwall, to a radio station, to the banquet and finally back to a second radio station.

Tomorrow, the commander was to pay a visit to his home in Braddock where he spent his boyhood days. Then he will leave for Somerset and another testimonial banquet.

Brotherhoods In Wage Conference

Representatives Of Five Railroad Brotherhoods Consider Wage Demands

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 15—Internal strife today threatened to disrupt the conference of five railroad brotherhoods meeting here to formulate demands for increased wages.

Agreed that a demand for pay increases shall be made, the union leaders are at loggerheads as to what difference should exist between the wage scales of various classes of workers.

A subcommittee of 24 from each of the brotherhoods—trainmen, firemen, conductors, switchmen, enginemen and engineers—is attempting to reconcile the differences.

A spokesman for one of the brotherhoods, declaring that the disagreement may be settled by compromise explained that the chief question is whether the present differentials shall be increased. A straight percentage increase for all classes of workers he said, would increase the dollar differential and would not be satisfactory to workers in the lower classes. The junior unions, trainmen and firemen, favor a flat increase in dollars and cents which would maintain the present spreads between wages, he said.

From another source, however, it was learned feeling is so strong the conference may come to an abrupt end, without any demands being made of the railroads. The conductor's union, it was learned may bolt the meeting if the junior groups insist on lessening the differential.

Notables Witness New Mill Opening

Marvel Plant Of Carnegie-Illinois Company At Homestead Opened

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15—Many of the nation's most noted financiers, steel men, engineers and business writers converged on Pittsburgh today to attend the opening of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporations' new Homestead plate mill, a marvel of the age.

Middle-Western notables chugged in on two special trains led by former vice president, Chas. G. Dawes while from the east came another special trainload bearing the head of most of the nation's big corporations.

Their inspection of Carnegie-Illinois plants will end at the new semi-continuous 100 inch plate mill that operates almost automatically to produce 729,000 gross tons of steel a year. It will be placed in operation for the first time this afternoon. Electrically operated, the mill extends for a third of a mile and contains the finest and newest steel making machinery.

Girl Attired As Boy Is Taken Into Custody

Adventure of Miss Ethel Greenock, 17, of McKeesport, who had apparently set out to see the world, attired in boy's clothing and armed with an unloaded revolver, came to an end here yesterday afternoon due to action of Patrolman Art Lowers of the B. & O. railroad. At present she is in custody of Jack Dunlap, detention home.

She left home yesterday, rode a freight into New Castle. About 4 p. m. the officer saw the girl in the B. & O. yard. He took her into custody and handed her over to city police who placed her in charge of Dunlap.

The girl, a cute looking lass, had previously never been away from home but decided to take a trip so she dressed in boy's clothing, wore high-topped shoes and carried an unloaded revolver.

Her parents have been notified to come and get her.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

FINE LIVESTOCK TO BE SHOWN AT HARRISBURG

A large exhibit of fine livestock will be displayed at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg, January 18 to 22.

Sheep of nine different breeds have been entered. These include 352 head in the open classes of breeding and fat sheep and 168 head of fat lambs in the 4-H classes. The club entries represent 11 counties: Berks, Blair, Centre, Clinton, Dauphin, Fayette, McKean, Northampton, Schuylkill, Susquehanna, and Washington.

Beef cattle exhibits will include 96 head in the breeding classes representing the three major breeds. There also will be 99 baby beeves shown by 4-H club boys and girls of 10 counties: Chester, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Mercer, Montgomery, Northampton, and York.

In the horse classes 8 Percherons and Belgians will be shown. Approximately 150 head of swine will be exhibited by adults and vocational agriculture students. The five major breeds will be represented.

C. L. Brenneman of Plaingrove Township will exhibit Shorthorn and Guernsey cattle and Shropshire sheep. Exhibits in other divisions of the 1937 Farm Products Show will include: Lawrence County Cooperative Wool Growers Association; G. M. Fullerton, North Beaver Township; and W. J. Duff, North Beaver Township, exhibiting wool. George Walter, Thomas Brown, John and Howard Johnson all of Scott Township who will exhibit Capons. S. S. Shields of Pulaski Township, will exhibit honey. Mrs. A. E. McCreary & Sons of Hickory Township will exhibit potatoes through the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association.

PENNSYLVANIA APPLES GOOD FOR MANY USES

Pennsylvania-grown apples can satisfy any taste. Varieties differ widely in flavor, aroma, acidity, juiciness, firmness, and cooking characteristics, as well as the season of the year when they are at their best.

For eating out of hand there is a wide range in sweetness including the distinctly sweet, such as Paradise and Tolman; the very mild sub-acid, such as Hubbardston (Nonsuch) and Delicious; and sub-acid, such as Grimes, and Stayman; and the acid, such as King David and Yellow Belleflower.

The sweet and very mild sub-acid apples generally taste too flat after cooking to be considered desirable for this purpose. The sub-acid and even the acid varieties are most valuable for culinary use. Among these sorts some, like the Yellow Transparent and McIntosh, quickly break down into sauce when cooked; others, like York and Rome, tend to hold their shape; while still others, like Stayman and Baldwin, are intermediate.

A few of the leading commercial varieties in Pennsylvania may be characterized as follows:

McIntosh is our most aromatic variety and is considered best of all eating apples my many, although it is a little too acid for some. It breaks down quickly when cooked. Its best season is October, November, and December, though this range may be extended a month or more under best storage conditions.

Jonathan is an excellent all-purpose apples, being of high dessert quality and acid enough to be good when cooked. It holds its shape well when cooked. It is in season from October to January.

Delicious is very popular as a dessert apples, especially with those who prefer a very mild sort. It is not considered good for cooking because of this mildness. It ripens in October and may be readily held through January, and two months longer under the best storage conditions.

Northern Spy is praised as an excellent all-purpose apple. Eaten out of hand it is one of the best, and its fine quality carries through when cooked. It holds its shape fairly well when baked. Its season usually extends from November to January, though with careful handling and storage this period may be considerably lengthened.

Baldwin is perhaps more widely known than any other Pennsylvania apple. It is of fair dessert quality and holds its shape fairly well when cooked. The season opens in November and may extend through April or even May when the apples are not affected with bitter pit and are kept under best storage conditions.

Stayman is now the leading commercial variety in Pennsylvania and its popularity is due in no small part to its excellence as an all-purpose apple. It is in season from late November to April or May.

York and Rome are both among our leading varieties, but neither can be classed as a very desirable dessert apple. Both hold their shape very well when cooked. The former is prized particularly for stewing, while both are known as very good bakers. Their season extends from December to April or May.

Ben Davis and Gano are perhaps our very best keepers. Their season extends from January into June in good storage. These varieties are notorious for their poor dessert quality, but they are quite acceptable for cooking during the latter part of the season.

FIND STRIP CROPPING REDUCES SOIL LOSSES

A good farmer hates to see heavy rains gully his fields. The gradual loss of surface soil from what is known as sheet washing is not so generally recognized but is none the less equally serious. Through it the surface soil is constantly becoming thinner and less productive, more raw subsoil and stones come up at each plowing and more rock ledges or boulders, formerly well covered, reach the point where they interfere with tillage. Farmers are becoming more and more erosion-conscious and are vitally interested in practical ways and means of preventing it.

One of the best methods of reducing washing is strip farming. Frequently, one plows up an entire hillside at once. This gives run-off water a chance to sweep down the whole slope unimpeded, gathering volume as it goes and cutting and carrying away tons of soil. If, instead, the slope were divided into strips of about 100 to 150 feet in width, and these strips alternated with tilled crops, sod and winter grain, the water will not run far until it strikes sod which slows it up, spreads it, and strains out most of its load of silt. Very little water runs over or through a good, thick sod. Most of it soaks into the ground. The gullies seen in sod fields usually started before the sod was established.

Rows up and down slopes start little gullies which lead the water rapidly into the depressions where the large gullies form. If the corn planter and drill are run as nearly on the level as possible, run-off will not start nearly so quickly and will not be concentrated. Every little ridge then becomes a small terrace, holding back the water and letting it soak into the ground. A combination of crop strips run on the contours is the most effective system of stopping erosion and gullying. Many farmers have worked out such a system of their own initiative and without help. Those who did a good job are enthusiastic about results and would not consider going back to the old way of farming.

While the idea of large, solid fields of each crop appeals to the farmer's pride and imagination and tends to make him contemptuous of strips ,a few bad rains may do damage which is too great a price to pay. Strips, of course, cannot conveniently be pastured, but by cutting out pasturage of tillable land a tremendous amount of fencing can be eliminated and there will be more second crop hay and clover seed to harvest. Much steep land should now be in permanent pasture instead of crops, and with proper treatment and management of permanent pasture and perhaps a patch of sudan grass for August grazing the second crop pasture would not be needed.

Strip farming has many other advantages. There are practically no grades to pull up; almost everything is done on the level. Some parts of a large field often stay wet until other parts are too dry to work properly, but one can farm each strip more nearly at the proper time. Corn can be carried off and shocked on the adjoining strips to permit complete and thorough preparation for winter grain. Strips also give more flexibility to the roation.

The Extension Service will have an exhibit on strip cropping and gully control at the farm show at Harrisburg with a trained man in charge to answer questions and discuss methods.

SHOW CLOTHING ENTRIES DIVIDED INTO 3 CLASSES

The Pennsylvania Farm Show, scheduled for January 18 to 22 in Harrisburg, always has a large clothing exhibit.

Articles may be entered in one of the three following classes: Open classes in which any person may exhibit; 4-H club classes, open to any girl member of a 4-H club; and vocational classes, open to high school girls in vocational home economics classes.

The following girls from the 4-H clubs of Lawrence county will exhibit in the classes for single garments: Ruth Boyd, Princeton; Laurine Walker, New Castle, Pa., R. 1; Ruth McKean, Enon Valley, Pa., R. 3; Chloy Aiken, Portersville, Pa., R. 2; Elsie McClymonds-Price, Harmony, Pa., R. 2; Agnes Peebles, Slippery Rock, Pa., R. 3; Wilda Aiken, Portersville, Pa., R. 2.

Single garments will be judged on their general appearance, material, design and the workmanship For the best general appearance the article should be well pressed, clean and attractive. Material should be suitable to the purpose and design of the garment, and be of good enough quality to justify the time, work and money spent upon it. The design should be simple, the colors harmonious and pleasing. In judging a garment the choice of material, color and design is as important as the workmanship. Workmanship should be neat, showing a wise choice of appropriate seam and other finishes, and good machine stitches.

The 4-H club outfits displayed are judged on the same points as the garments and, in addition, are judged on suitability to the intended use and to the person. Another important point is whether the outfit is a wise choice. Is it worth the time and money spent upon it, will it be durable, and will it be difficult to care for?

The following Lawrence county girls exhibiting in the 4-H club outfit class are: Grace Clark, Enon Valley, Pa., and Hannah Peebles, Slippery Rock, Pa., R. 3, with school outfits, and Nancy Phillis, Pulaski, Pa., R. D. 1, with a street outfit.

Entries close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening January 16. No exhibit may be removed before the close of the show, but should be claimed between 6 and 8 p. m. January 22, unless other arrangements for return have been made.

To Make Report On Stabilization Fund

Administration Prepares To Give Congress Accounting Of Use Of Two Billions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—The administration prepared today to give congress an informal accounting of the government's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, the operation of which has been a closely guarded secret for nearly three years.

To smoothe the way for extension of President Roosevelt's emergency fiscal powers, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau will appear before two congressional committees to explain briefly how some of this money has been used to protect the dollar in international exchange.

Morgenthau first will address the house coinage committee and later the senate banking and currency committee. These groups are handling the measure that would continue until June 30, 1939, the president's authority to utilize the fund for stabilization purposes.

The secretary will insist that the right to keep fund operations from public scrutiny be extended "in the nation's interest".

Simple Home Treatment for Varicose Veins

Swollen veins may become dangerous and sometimes break. Sufferers are advised to get an original bottle of Emerald Oil at Eckerd's Drug Store or any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once. A small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush or the finger tips as directed until the swelling is reduced.

So effective is Emerald Oil that it is highly useful in reducing troublesome simple swellings due to strain and hastens their disappearance.

Arrest Driver After Accident

Glenn Reno, West Laycock street, was arrested by Cruiser Car Operators Harper and Golis at 2:30 a. m. today on suspicion of driving a car while intoxicated following an accident at East Washington street and Florence avenue. The car struck and broke off a telephone police, police alleged.

According to the police report, Reno was driving west in East Washington street and his car struck the pole, not only breaking it off, but damaging his automobile considerably. A physician treated glass wounds on Reno's face.

NOT MUCH TAKEN

Someone pried open the rear door of Lang's Market, West Washington street and stole some small change from the cash register some time before 11:40 p. m. last night, police reported today.

Makes Defense Of Poor Boards

President Of State Association Makes Defense Of Services

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15—A strong defense of poor boards in Pennsylvania, target of the Goodrich committee on relief, was made today by Russell E. H. Romberger, president of the Association of Directors of the Poor and Charities and Corrections.

In a letter to the Rev. Dr. Howard A. Brettle, member of the social ministry commission of the Philadelphia Federation of Churches, who recently criticised the two-century old institution, Romberger said:

"It is quite apparent that your knowledge of poor boards (for when you say poor boards that means all poor boards in the state) is very limited and I am quite positive that your conclusions have been reached by hearsay from those with selfish interests at stake rather than by actual experience and contact with poor boards."

In Memoriam

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 15.—"Dears" and deer shouldn't mix, according to C. F. Wiegand, assistant superintendent of Portland parks. He charged that four deer escaped from the city park when their wire coral was cut by an automobile "petting party" which ran into it. The animals were recaptured later.

Aerial Infantry For French Force

New Branch Added To France's Powerful Army For War Service

TWO BASES WILL BE ESTABLISHED

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Jan. 15.—Preparing to strike hard from the air when the next war comes, France has added a new branch to her powerful army—the "aerial infantry."

Men now are being recruited, it was revealed today, under a severe system of selection. Two bases are being established, one at Reims, a point from which France's threatened German, Swiss and Belgian borders are about equidistant, and the other at Algiers.

Few details of the new corps have been made public, but the decree establishing it provides that its men shall be volunteers from regular infantry regiments. More than enough already have presented themselves, according to military authorities here, and the over-supply will enable them to select only the best physical types.

Similar to the "suicide clubs" of military parachute jumpers formed two years ago by the Soviet Union, the "aerial infantry" has as its principal aim operations behind enemy lines.

Though they will fight on foot, the infantrymen will be moved entirely by air, in transport planes which, with their crews, make up a part of the corps.

Their task will be to land, either in planes or by parachute, at key points in any enemy territory, to destroy railroad bridges, raid headquarters, destroy ammunition dumps, and otherwise harrass the foe.

At the same time it is believed enough men and planes eventually can be made available actually to occupy strong points on enemy flanks and to repel attacks until a formal advance of ground forces can be made in their support.

On Court House Hill

Sometime near January 25 a representative of the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue will be in the court house to assist taxpayers in filing their returns for personal property taxes. The representative will be in the office of Register and Recorder W. R. Hanna.

In 1936 Mr. Hanna aided several thousand people in making out their returns but he will be unable to do so this year owing to press of business. The representative of the state will instruct people how to file their returns. At the same time they can make a return for the county also.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland has received his statement of collections for the state in 1936. This includes fees collected for dog licenses, fishing licenses, hunting licennes, mercantile license and licenses for pool rooms, pawnbrokers, auctioneers and others.

In 1936 Lawrence county collected $63,932.94 in these fees of which the state took $60.260.74 and the county retained $2,487.36. Commissions amounted to $323.59.

The total for 1936 is an increase over 1935 when $59,809.83 was collected. The number of retail license fees in 1936 jumped from 1206 to 1317 and the wholesale from 94 to 103. Hunting licenses declined from 7692 to 6865 probably due to the fact that men had returned to work and did not wish to take the time to hunt.

Fishing licenses increased from 3203 to 3437. Restaurant license increased from 169 to 187. In 1935 enough business went out to account for $2800 that was not collected. In 1936 this dropped to $654.12.

According to the statement there are only 28 billiard licenses in the county. Thirty five individual hold brokers licenses. There are eight holding auctioneer licenses and nine theatres.

The first fishing license of 1937 was issued to George Schilling of Ellwood City. The licenses arrived on Wednesday afternoon and Mr. Schilling wanted to go fishing on Thursday. His number is 143,801. The tourist fishing licenses are also in but the non-resident licenses have not arrived. Dog licenses are not available in the county treasurer's office.

Rocco Esposito, brought here from Kirkland Lake, Ontario on a charge of murder of Francesco Romeo, in October 1906, is accustoming himself to the life in the county jail. MILLBURN

An impressive installation ceremony took place at Millburn grange at their last meeting, when the 11-year-old master of London Juvenile grange, Master McDowell, with his assistants installed into office the newly elected officers of Millburn Juvenile grange. The work was done in a style and with a poise and dignity that is not always found in the work of the subordinate grange. Following the installation the lecturer of Millburn, Mrs. Paul Woods, presented a preview of the play to be given later. Refreshments were served by Millburn juveniles.

The play, "A Fortunate Calamity," which was given at the grange hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings, was a success.

The cast was as follows:

Mrs. Marian Merkle, a proud mother—Mrs. Emma Bougher.

Alta, her ambitious daughter—Martha Robinson.

Ruth, another daughter—Nellie Blake.

Kate Van Tyle, a good natured cook—Mrs. Grace Woods.

Dinah Johnsing, a servant—Mrs. Myrtle Jenkins.

Rastus Johnsing, an honest coon—Elmer Anderson.

Joe Brown, revenue officer—Lawrence Fink.

Bernard Gullion, jovial young man—Charles Masters.

Albert Campbell, a crook—Paul Woods.

Rev. and Mrs. G. K. Monroe, of West Alexander, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hartt.

Dr. W. G. Waddell and W. E. Rowland, of Beaver, were recent callers at the Hartt farm, which they purchased last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rodgers and family, of Indian Run, were Monday dinner guests and I. A. Snow and family, of Youngstown, Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fatterson and son were among the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Blake of Pulaski, for a fish dinner recently. Others present were Clarence Edeburn, Harry Blake and Donald Garrett and their families.

Mrs. H. L. Patterson was hostess to the ladies of the missionary society of White Chapel church recently. The usual tureen dinner was served at noon.

Many in the community are suffering from colds. Ernest Wimer and Louis Coleman have lung complications which are considered serious. Mrs. Nannie Long, of Indian Run, is reported to be seriously ill with pneumonia. Charles Bougher is also recovering from a cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bougher entertained their children and Arthur Blumenshine on Sunday. Miss Lou Bougher remained until Monday evening and attended the grange play.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holliday, of Butler, spent the week-end with Mr. Holliday's parents and relatives in Mercer.

Not Guilty Is Decision In Bacon Cases

Judge Braham Hands Down Decision In Cases Brought By State

In three verdicts and an opinion handed down today, Judge W. Walter Braham disposed of the bacon cases brought by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania against local merchants.

The cases were tried before the judge without a jury. The verdict in all three cases is "not guilty and the cost placed upon the county. No witness fees are allowed for commonwealth witnesses as they are paid agents".

The defendants in the cases were: Joseph's Market, M. Joseph, proprietor and Louis Locan, clerk in charge; Fleeger and Badger, Clyde Badger, partner; Cash and Carry Market, Jake Kulkin, proprietor and Henry Cohen, clerk.

The cases were those in which the commonwealth charged the defendants with selling a product marked bacon which the commonwealth contended was not bacon inasmuch as it was made from the neck and jowls of the hog. The product was from standard companies. The commonwealth contended that bacon could come only from the sides or belly of the hog.

The opinion is a clear cut one and the court exhausted every source of information and authority upon what constitutes bacon. "If we were called upon to determine what ought to be called bacon we would be inclined to agree with the definition of the experts" said the court. Further the opinion said, "as we have said, the better or more logical method would be to limit the term bacon to the cuts from the sides, back and belly, but when we are asked to decide under the facts in the case that the citizen has been guilty of criminal conduct by using the term bacon in a more general sense, we decline to do so."

The meat in question was wrapped by the companies and the packages bore the stam of approval of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Joseph Lief Not In Hospital

Mystery of clothes found in an alley recently near Hamilton street was cleared further today when Joe Lief, Long avenue, reported as follows: That Andy Kopsky, Lyndal street, had taken Mrs. Kopsky to a hospital and while enroute home with Mrs. Kopsky's clothes, Kopsky lost them. In a report to police it appeared Mrs. Lief was in the hospital. However, such is not the case.

SOCIETY MOVE TO REPLACE ENVOY?

According to reports circulating in Washington, a move is under way to replace Michael MacWhite, Ireland's popular minister to the United States, with W. B. Macauley, a former subordinate to MacWhite and a favorite with socialite Americans. Macauley recently became engaged to Mrs. Nicholas Brady, widow of a New York utilities magnate, thus is believed to have the backing of Mrs. Brady, who is very wealthy. She is a papal duchess, and it was at her estate on Long Island that Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, was entertained on his recent visit to the United States.

Revival Services Two More Weeks At Dewey Ave. Church

The revival campaign at the Dewey Avenue Free Methodist church continues with increased interest. Tuesday night a delegation from Ellwood City was in attendance. The congregation listened with special attention as the evangelist, Rev. J. R. Bartlebaugh discoursed on the subject "God's Big Fish," and described Jonah's expensive trip to the bottom of the sea. An appeal was made at the close of the sermon and a lively altar service followed.

Wednesday night an address of special interest was delivered on the subject "Christ Through New Castle in a Car"...No spectaular arguments were offered but the fact emphasized that "modern methods" and conveniences do not change the Savjour of the world in His dispositions against sin nor do they "make folks truly happy".

Good attendance is expected the remainder of the week and the campaign is to continue for two weeks more. There are to be special services Sunday.

Louisville Cuts Down Auto Toll

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — In 1936 Louisville reduced its traffic accidents and fatalities 8 per cent, according to Police Corp. Carl E. Heustis, of the Accident Prevention Squad.

Last year 71 persons were killed in traffic mishaps, compared to 72 in 1935, and 82 in 1934.

The decrease came in the face of increased traffic, with 4,600 more automobiles registered last year than in 1935, Corporal Heustis said.

Coal Operators And Miners Move Toward Agreement

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15—Anthracite coal operators and miners today are moving together toward a solution of the knotty problems harassing the hard coal industry in Pennsylvania, according to Lieutenant governor Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine workers.

Commenting on yesterday's meeting the commission of six anthracite operators and six representatives of the miner's union, Kennedy observed that although "nothing concrete resulted from the discussions I think such conferences are helpful for both sides as a start toward working out a program that will be mutually satisfactory to all parties.

Washington School Gives Letters To 55 Scholars

George Washington junior-senior high school gave formal recognition to the splendid scholarship records of nearly three-score of its students during its regular semester-end "recognition assembly" on Thursday afternoon.

A group of 55 10-A, 9-A, 8-A and 7-A pupils were warmly commended before their fellow students, teachers and guests for the high scholastic ratings they have maintained during the past semester.

For the school faculty, J. C. Ward made the presentation of handsome letters to those in the four award groups.

Principal Browne K. Thacker presided during the chapel program, one of the outstanding assemblies of every semester. Betty Reed conducted the devotionals. The school orchestra, led by John E. Paton, played.

Representing the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis society, A. Bruce Ewing of The News presented to the school a cash award for $5 for Washington's first prize citation in a recent anti-tuberculosis newspaper contest sponsored by the society. Receiving the prize, for the school, was Daniel A. Carroll, who, with Miss Helen Maloney, gave faculty supervision to the students' newspaper project.

Principal Thacker congratulated the honor group students in a short talk and then Mr. Ward passed letters to the following:

The 10A's: Marion Brown, Jane Haven, Nell Young, Warren White, Everett Hoffman, William Bissell, Ruth Payne, Dan Woolcock, James Cook, Edwina Raub, Robert Meermans.

The 9A's: Nancy McKee, Don Moore, James Hewitt, Pauline Leinert, Hallie Paxson Davis, Tom Clark, Marion Reed, Kathryn Wilson, Lawrence Cromie, Roberta Elder, Marlyn Boyd.

The 8A's: Betty Reed, June Aubel, Gladys Brown, Mary Fenati, Maxine Conway, Gladys Stickel, Jean Edelstein, Georgiana Truby, Carol Henderson, Hazel Mark, Fred McKee, Carolyn Cosel, Harriett Urmson, Dorothy Burton, James Rucker, Jean Allen, Dorothy Wallace, Geraldine Black, Shirley Robson, Mary Mann, Donald Smith, Margaret Kelley.

The 7A's: Joan Preston, Doris Bennett, William Dampier, Roberta Street, Judith Klivans, Peggy Boughter, Margaretta Eckles, Jean Jewell, Betty Madden, Guy McCracken, Ruth Collins.

Outstanding among the 55 were Nell Young of the 10-A's and Nancy McKee and Kathryn Wilson of the 9-A division. Miss Young has maintained the high honor rank for four consecutive years and the Misses McKee and Wilson have won high honors for three years straight.

Reich Orders Big Wood Cut Increase

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—General Goering, in his capacity as Reich Forest Master and as the authorized first executive of the Four Year-Plan, has ordered that in all German forests, state, community, or privately owned, fifty per cent more wood must be cut between October 1936 and September 1937 than during the same period last year.

Only forests under 125 acres are exempt from the order.

The new order is due to the shortage of foreign wood owing to Germany's lack of foreign exchange wherewith to buy wool abroad, while more is being used in manufacturing artificial wool and the like.

Speed Work On New Dormitory At Grove City

Hope To Have New Building At College Ready For Occupancy Next Semester

GROVE CITY, Jan. 15.—Workmen are racing with time, with the odds against them, in an effort to complete the Mary Anderson Pew Dormitory for Women by the start of the second semester on February 1. Now in the last stages of construction, the workmen are redoubling efforts to have the dormitory ready to house 107 girls, who will be moved in just as soon as it is ready for occupancy.

This year 35 girls have been housed in the Penn Grove Hotel, awaiting completion of the building being erected in memory of the late John Pew, one of the first trustees and associate of the late Dr. Isaac C. Ketler in founding Grove City College. It is the fourth large building to be erected on the upper campus in the past six years.

Since 1930 the start of the depression, more than a million dollars have been spent on construction work at the college. The new buildings include Harbison Chapel, Hall of Science, Isaac C. Ketler Hall for Men, and now the Mary Anderson Pew Dormitory for Women.

"Human Guinea Pigs" Discount Dangers

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 15.—Heroes in a laboratory battle against invisible death — carbon monoxide gas—four Harvard University investigators and two unnamed undergraduates are taking their lives in their hands and tossit temptingly to fate.

Modestly, these human "guinea pigs," today pooh-poohed their death-flirts as "just routine research work. Not as dangerous as it sounds."

But they did not deny that Dr. W. H. Forbes collapsed after deliberately inhaling a quantity of the deadly gas as until his blood was 50 per cent saturated, when ordinarily 33 1-3 per cent would induce unconsciousness. He was rescued and revived by his fellow-workers.

The investigators, in addition to Dr. Forbes, are Dr. Harry Desilva, of the Harvard Traffic Research Bureau; F. M. Van Deventer, gasoline company official; Dr. David B. Dill, associate professo. of industrial psychology at Harvard, and two undergraduates whose names were withheld.

Test Every Phase

Purpose of the experiments, it was revealed, was to test mental acuteness, muscular coordination, and visual sensibility of an automobile or truck driver inhaling carbon monoxide fumes which accumulate in closed cabs or pleasure cars. The scientists sit in laboratories fitted out to simulate truck cabs or closed cars, and the deadly gas, generated from a motor, is allowed to permeate the compartment. At various stages of gas-concentration, their faculties are tested, using Dr. Silva's traffic research equipment.

The tests proved that the gas, in addition to being odorless and colorless, gives no warning of its presence and the victim collapses before he realizes his danger.

Optimist Clubs Aid 50,000 Youths

Many Youngsters Aided By Optimist Clubs Throughout United States And Canada

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 15.—"During 1936, approximately 50,000 under privileged youngsters were aided by Optimist Clubs throughout the United States and Canada," Earl G. Stanza, University City, Mo., president of Optimist International, recently stated here.

"The clubs made an effort to reach boys not contacted by established agencies such as the Boy Scouts and Y. M. C. A. They organized Junior Optimist Clubs, provided Optimist "Uncles" for friendless boys, equipped libraries and boys' camps, provided medical and dental care, and carried on scores of other activities," Stanza said.

"Prosperity may be back", he stated, "but we cannot afford to forget that many boys don't have fathers to benefit from pay increases or bonuses."

NEW CASTLE AND ALIQUIPPA PLAY HERE TONIGHT

SECTION THREE LEAD AT STAKE

New Castle Will Get First Real Test Of Year At Washington High

Preliminary Game At 7 O'Clock, Aliquippa Has Fast Team, Is Report

LEADERSHIP of Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L. is at stake tonight as the New Castle High Red Hurricane" basketball team and Aliquippa Hi quintet prepare to battle it out. In event of good weather the biggest crowd of the year will no doubt pack Washington High floor for the "croocial" game. The preliminary game starts at 7 o'clock.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh announced today that he would start the same lineup that began the Ellwood City game, with Strausbaugh and Koszela at the forwards Nocera at center and Small and Covelli at the guards. This combination clicked beautifully against the Tubers. It is just about the same team that "whupped" Ambridge high here the other evening.

Play is Improving

New Castle has looked better every game. The passing and offense of the locals is very fine this year. The fans have marveled at the handling of the ball by the red and blacks. A victory tonight will put the Bridenbaugh coached machine in the "right" spot for going through to another championship of Section Three. The locals will seek victory number four in league play.

Aliquippa has won two sectional engagements, defeating Beaver Falls and Ellwood City. New Castle's victims to date have been New Brighton, Ambridge and Ellwood City.

Watch Saber

Saber will be a "marked man" in the Aliquippa lineup. He made 10 points against Beaver Falls the other night. He is one of the few veterans on the team. The "Quips" topped the Beaver Falls High team 20 to 19 last Tuesday night.

Coach Bridenbaugh is very well pleased with the form shown by "Cash" Koszela at Ellwood City and is banking on the polish mite to come through with another good game tonight. He is a fine floorworker and a deadshot at the basket. He works very nicely with Strausbaugh as the feeder. The "Quips" of course will keep an eye on Nocera, the leading scorer in the league to date.

Probable Lineup

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner announced that the prices for the game would be the same as usual at 15 cents for the students, 35 cents for general admission and 50 cents for reserved seats on the downstairs bleachers. The crowds to date have been very gratifying to the high school officials.

Following are the probable lineups of the teams tonight—

New Castle		Aliquippa
Strausbaugh	F	Moskola
Koszela	F	Smisko
Nocera	C	Dickey
Covelli	G	Saber
Small	G	Kolanda

Yawkey Has Spent $800,000 But Still Doesn't Have Flag

Even Willing To Spend More Money, But Wants Winning Ball Club

Has Taken All Of Old Has-Beens Of American League, Joe Cronin Is $250,000 "Flop"

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Mr. Thomas A. Yawkey, who has been given a splendid opportunity by baseball to build his way down to the sidewalk at an estimated cost of $5,000,000, wishes to announce today that he doesn't know what he's going to do with and to the Boston Red Sox before sending them out for the 1937 season. It seems that he isn't sure whether he ought to keep on building into a total wreck or just stand still and let nature have its head.

This course, considering the fact that he finished 28½ games behind the Yankees, comes pretty close to standing pat on a few million dollars worth of failure, but it's not so silly as it sounds. After all, other men have proved that it's entirely possible to finish sixth for nothing.

Has Spent $800,000.

"I've spent about $800,000 for star players alone since buying the club a few years ago," he said, calmly enough. "I won't say that I'll never buy another star. But, if I do, it'll have to be somebody we're absolutely convinced we need in order to make the club click.

"We tried to make a few deals at the winter meetings. We didn't make them. I don't know whether we ever will. That's all I can tell you."

The absence of Business Manager Eddie Collins prevented us from going further into the matter, as Collins is known as a very deep student of baseball and has all these details at his finger tips.

I assume, for instance, that his experience and knowledge were considered invaluable during the negotiations by which Mr. Yawkey was able to conclude the following deals during the last three years:

Lefty Grove for $150,000, with $50,000 more for Walberg and Bishop. Of course, Walberg and Bishop were no good, while Grove should be traded for the morale of the club, only nobody will take him. Ditto Wesley Ferrell, purchased from Cleveland for $75,000.

Joe Cronin is "Flop".

Joe Cronin for the world's record price of $250,000. Cronin was an excellent hitter, when right; no better than a good shortstop and just a fair manager. So the Red Sox signed him as a player-manager for five years and now he can't play parchesi.

Heine Manush for $50,000, with the result that, after one year, Heine is now in Brooklyn where he'll be appreciated. He had stopped hitting at the time of the purchase. After that, he stopped throwing.

Jimmy Foxx for $150,000, at a time when Philadelphia more than suspected that he was getting thru. Foxx alone hit in Boston last year, but right now Philadelphia wouldn't take him back for $50,000. Eric McNair and Roger Cramer went to Boston with him for $100,000 and didn't hit a resounding foul which was both unfortunate and unforeseen, as they are pretty good ball players. We'll forget Pitcher Johnny Marcum for $25,000.

Mellilo Is "Bust".

But not Infielder Oscar Mellilo for $25,000. As St. Louis and everybody else was prepared to predict, Mellilo didn't hit, couldn't hit and won't. Besides, he didn't work well with McNair. Besides, it was discovered in the course of time that they'd contrived to assemble all of the slow runners of baseball on one club; whereas, speed alone could have offset all the ukulele hitters in the lineup.

I am aware that Business Manager Collins has been recognized for years as one of the profound thinkers of the diamond, first, as a player; than as a field manager in Chicago, and finally as an assistant thinker for Connie Mack in Philadelphia. I don't want to hurry him in his Boston thinking but I must say I'm waiting impatiently for the man to get "hot".

In other words, Mr. Yawkey couldn't tell me very much about his ball club. So I simply decided to be big about it and tell him.

Falcon Reserves Defeat Cascades

Union-Bessemer Playing Tonight

First Place At Stake In Section 21 In Game At Union High Floor

Union high school basketball team will be battling for first place in the Section 21 race tonight as they take the floor at Union high with the strong Bessemer high team as the opponents. The girls of the two schools will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Davey "Morg" Boyd has the Unions all tuned up for the important tussle. Bessemer is the team that stands out like a lighthouse in the path of Union to a sectional flag this season, and the Union Townshipers are going to play their heads off to win.

Coach J. K. Fredericks of Bessemer is not saying much, but is doing a lot of thinking and mostly how he can stop this Union team's hot winning streak and how to throttle Davies and Joe Ostrosky, the scoring twin forwards. Coach Boyd is figuring out a way to handcuff this man Harold DeArment, who got 11 points against Wampum the other evening.

The game looks like the feature one on the sectional card tonight, and the Union high gym will no doubt be packed to the rafters for the annual Bessemer go.

Following are the probable lineups:

Union	pos.	Bessemer
Davies	f	H. DeArment
J. Ostrosky	f	Calderaro
Stevenson	c	Gornick
Morrison	g	D. DeArment
Wotowitz	g	Sama

East Brook To Play Wampum

Section 21 League Game At East Brook Floor Tonight, Preliminary At 7:30 O'clock

East Brook high school basketball team will play the Wampum high quintet at the East Brook high floor tonight. The girls of the two schools will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Dee Emerick has a revamped East Brook lineup ready to start the game. Georgie Hall is still nursing his sprained wrist and may not see action in the game tonight. Finnegan will play a forward tonight, being shifted from center. Gardner will be the jump-up man. "Butch" Kimmel will be in at a guard.

The Wampums under Coach L. B. Hennon will probably have Flumer back in shape to play. The Wampum star was ill last Tuesday against Bessemer and played only a few minutes of the game. His presence in the lineup will add greatly to the Wampum punch.

The probable lineups:

Wampum—		East Brook—
Davis	F	Finnegan
Flumer	F	Jameson
McBride	C	Gardner
Fontana	G	Kimmel
Scala	G	Downing or Valentino

Ed Rommel Is Signed As Ump

If You Have Low Pulse Maybe You Can Be Fighter

Freddy Steele, Champion, Says "I Have Very Low Pulse"

Sounds "Fishy" But Nevertheless, Steele Is Some Pumpkins As Fighter

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Ever hear of an abnormally low pulse helping a fighter win a title?

Sounds silly, doesn't it? And yet, to such a pulse Fred Steele, the Tacoma terror, today attributes a large part of his success in winning the middleweight title.

"Men with abnormally low pulses have exceptional stamina," Freddy explained today, "and nobody can get anywhere in such a bruising sport as boxing without stamina which includes, of course, the ability to take a punch.

Pulse Is Weak

"Believe it or not, my pulse is normally only 44 and the average man's pulse is between 70 and 75. When a doctor in Milwaukee examined me before my fight with Gorilla Jones New Year's day, he thought he must have made a mistake and took my pulse a second time to make sure.

"They tell me Battling Nelson had a low pulse like mine and that Paavo Nurmi's was even a little bit lower and you know what endurance those two men had.

"They tell me that's the main reason why I never grow arm-weary or leg-weary. I always feel as if I could fight all day. And that also is the reason why I can punch just as hard in the 15th round as I can in the first."

You may gather from the foregoing almost verbatim report of his remarks that Freddy belongs to the newer school of educated, businessmen fighters.

Likes To Fight

He began fighting in his fifteenth year when he was in the seventh grade in school and fought his first main event when he was still a sophomore in high school. He has had 123 fights, including two knockouts over Ceferino Garcia, and it is Freddy's boast that he never has been on the floor.

He has earned $150,000 and expects to have at least $250,000 in annuities before he retires within the next three or four years. After that, he intends to take life easy, largely in the company of Bing Crosby, his pal who also has a share in his earnings.

Freddy hits equally hard with either hand and since he has broken the jaws of three opponents, he says he thinks he knows something about hitting.

Natural Gift

"Nobody can teach you how to hit," says Freddy. "It's a natural gift. You either have the natural speed and timing which make for knockouts or you haven't got it, and if you haven't got it, no amount of teaching will give it to you.

"Strength doesn't mean much in punching. If it did, Maxie Rosenbloom, who is strong and fast and smart, would have been a knockout artist long ago."

BENNY BASS WINS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—Benny Bass, the former feather and 130-pound champion, today chalked up another victory in his comeback drive after shelling Joey Allen, tough Italian scrapper of Camden, N. J., to defeat in 10 rounds.

Middleweights Hold Spotlight

From Everywhere Middleweights Springing Up To Challenge Freddy Steele

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Madison Square Garden and the Twentieth Century Sporting club today apparently had mustered their forces to cast some threatening scowls at each other in a quiet, beneath-the-surface fight for control of the middleweight boxers.

And the middleweights themselves—seemingly dozens of them where there wasn't even a good pair a few months ago—are clustered on the sidelines cheering for the winner in the promotional argument.

On latest returns, the Garden holds an edge in the maneuvering for the services of the leading 160-pounders who suddenly are springing up everywhere and bringing more action to boxing than the other divisions combined.

Will Arrange Bout

All this activity is scheduled to result in at least one fight for the middleweight title—for the Garden—with the next few weeks, and possibly more soon thereafter, with the Twentieth Century figuring in procedure.

From the Garden's standpoint, chief interest right now centers around bringing together Freddy Steele of Tacoma, Wash., and Eddie (Babe) Risko, of Syracuse, N. Y., in a title bout in February. Jimmy Johnston, Garden promoter, says it is all set, except for New York Boxing Commission approval and setting of the date. In other words, the fighters are willing.

Steel took the title from Risko last July.

Meanwhile, Solly Krieger, New York contender, will appear before the boxing commission next week and request that his 10-round bout of Wednesday night with ex-Champion Teddy Yarosz of Pittsburgh, be brought back to the Twentieth Century's Hippodrome as a 15-round encore. Krieger lost in 10 but apparently figures he can do it better in 15, with the winner to meet Steele for the title.

Other middleweights clamoring for a chance at Steele's title are Fred Apostoli of San Francisco, who beat Risko among others; Ken Overlin of Richmond, Va., and Frank Battaglia of Minneapolis.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The forgotten man during all this boycott storm that is sweeping away Max Schmeling's chance to recover the heavyweight championship is Joe Jacobs, the little Jewish manager of the German fighter.

In a crisis of such tremendous proportions, with all hands on the spot, so to speak, Yussel the Mussel might be expected to come up screaming some classical line that would go reeling down the ages.

The fact that Joe has been taking the boycott of the Braddock-Schmeling fight sitting down seems to support a hunch this writer has been coddling for months—that Max is cold-shouldering Joe, both socially and financially.

In magazine articles ghost-written after his fight with Louis, Schmeling gave space to some sarcastic criticism of Jacobs' conduct and judgment during the course of the bout in which Max would have you believe he was the only operating master mind.

"No American Representative"

Subsequently Max was quoted in a cable from Berlin as saying that he "had no American representative", but would make any necessary fight arrangements himself. Then Schmeling's attitude toward Jacobs during the boxing commission proceedings that led to the edict that Braddock must fight Schmeling June 3 certainly was not to be mistaken as a fighter's friendly faith in his manager. Schmeling snubbed Jacobs by acting as his own spokesman, while Joe stood quietly in the background, smoking and frowning.

Is it rashly inaccurate to assume that Herr Schmeling has been given word by Herr Hitler to the effect that he must have no more to do with a Jewish manager?

Schmeling has shown himself more than once as an opportunist. He gave his original German manager the gate back in the hungry days when it seemed to him Joe Jacobs was the man who could do something about making him the champion.

Joe did more than something about making Max champion. He did everything about it. When he leaped into the ring that night in the Yankee stadium, bade him sit on the floor and raised his voice to the heavens screeching for justice for his fighter who had been most foully fouled by Jack Sharkey, he supplied the drama that the scene needed to make its appeal effective in the eyes of the powers that decided that night that the rules were wrong and Jacobs was right.

Even The Nazi Salute!

Jacobs has gone all the way for Schmeling time after time. It is true Joe is not a grammarian. He knocked the Queen's English for a goal when he shouted into the microphone, after the second Sharkey fight, "We wuz robbed," but he got the burden of his message across just the same.

Joe even went so far as to invade Germany for the Hamas fight. He was a one-man army of occupation entering a land where his nationality was a death warrant. He worked in Schmeling's corner, and when the time came for it, he gave Herr Hitler the Nazi salute—which is going about as far as a fellow can be expected to go.

This writer has known Jacobs for years. Joe is an East Side boy who fought his way up in a sport that is infested with characters that are not wholesome. To be sure he has had to use the chisel often, and it had to be a sharp chisel because he was playing one of the hardest games that can be played in a city where hard games abound, and among his rivals and foes there were no softies.

Is This The Answer?

He didn't get the nickname Yussel the Mussel for nothing. He has muscled his way boldly, at times without regard for discretion or what might be broadly termed the proprieties.

But I never have heard of him being disloyal to one who played fair with him. I have asked him a lot of questions and he never has given the wrong answer. His word has been okay.

Joe's dignified calm in the present uproar seems to me about the loudest reply he could give to the insults heaped upon him in the Rialto by the German ex-champion.

Would Revise Game Code In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Sportsmen's organizations in the commonwealth were being sounded out today for views on what should be done to the 14-year-old game code.

Following a meeting in Wilkes-Barre of directors of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs with the game commissioners, it was decided to settle the most controversial matter in form of a referendum.

Recommendations Made

Meanwhile, Seth Gordon, secretary to the commission, said that body was preparing a complete revision of the game code for study by the 1937 legislature to "simplify, modernize and get rid of inconsistencies."

Some of the referendum questions included:

Increase of the resident hunting license fee to $2.60 or retention of the present $2.00 fee "for those who desire to hunt small game," and a license of $3.00 for residents who wish to hunt big game; increase of special trapping license from $2.00 to $3.00, and the question of fixing a $10.00 small game non-resident license, a $25.00 non-resident license for large game, and a $15.00 trapping license for non-residents, in the event separate big game and small game licenses are issues to residents.

Vines-Perry In Pittsburgh

Jack And Charley Show Will Be Staged At Pittsburgh, Perry Seeks Fourth Win

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—After a series of forced marches in several directions including a hospital, it is noted that Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry have arrived in Pittsburgh for tonight's exhibition of tennis in their Jack-and-Charley tour of the country. Where do I get that Jack-and-Charley business? I haven't got it. Ellsworth and Frederick have.

Briefly and in a word, the tour—probably the last of the pro tenis junkets of any pretensions—is financed by a New York Night club partnership, celebrated in one way or another as Jack and Charley's. One way, incidentally, happens to be that time, not so long ago, when Jack (last name Kriendler, became known as the grotesque "mooey, of revelations in connections with a divorce suit.

Well Paid

This time, Jack and Charley are very much in the tennis promotion business. Perry, for one thing, got a $50,000 bonus for signing his contract and they put the money up. For another, Francis T. Hunter promoter of the tour, has his New York office in a part of the night club. For a third, the mink-coat set that occupied the best seats at the Madison Square Garden premiere, January 6, were as often as not monied habitues of the club.

So, if it wasn't these gentlemen of the tap room and grill, Pittsburgh might be seeing no Vines-Perry match tonight, which might be all right with Pittsburgh, and there even might have been no Madison Square Garden premiere.

Benny Leonard Favors Pastor To Beat Louis

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Benny Leonard, former world lightweight champion, picked himself a limb today and crawled out on it in behalf of Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, who meets Joe Louis at Madison Square Garden on January 29

Having watched Pastor in many of his 23 professional fights and in his current training, Leonard said:

"I expect Pastor to win the decision. All he has to do, in my opinion, is box the Negro. Louis is strictly a counter-fighter and Pastor must make the Negro come to him and box all the way.

"Pastor is a better boxer than Louis—how do you like that? And he can win this one with his head. But I wouldn't advise him to try for a knockout. That might prove disastrous.

"Also, he mustn't make any mistakes."

Committees Are Named At School Board Meeting

President H. E. Helling Announces Committees For Year At Regular Session

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 15.—Active committees for the Ellwood City Board of Education for the year of 1937 were announced by President H. E. Helling at the monthly session Thursday evening in the Lincoln High School.

Dr. Helling announced that a new plan had been adopted in regards to this. Committees have been combined and where there had been previously six committees there are now three. Supplies and athletics has been included with the Education committee and the grounds with the Building committee. The Finance committee remains as is. Dr. Helling stated that this arrangement puts more men on a committee which should result in better service.

At the announcement of committees Director J. F. Fitzgerald asked Dr. Helling what happened to the athletic committee. The latter replied that it was included with the Education committee since it is a school function. Mr. Fitzgerald stated, "Athletics is something different in school functions and should be mainained separate from other matters and therefore is deserving of a separate committee of the board as in the past." I believe the school code gives authority to the high school principal to institute and regulate athletics. I doubt your authority to include athletics with the education committee." Dr. Helling replied, "My intention was still to keep a separate set of books for athletics although still under the jurisdiction of the education committee." If I remember correctly the school code gives the president of the board the authority to select his committees as he sees fit."

The propriety of the matter was further discussed by the board which decided to settle the matter by the next meeting. The committees as announced by Dr. Helling were as follows:

The president, Dr. H. E. Helling, has approved the plan of limiting the number of committees to those which cover the field of school work most naturally. One committee is appointed for each of these major functions: financing the schools, maintaining school property, and operating the schools.

Under this plan there will be more men on a committee which will mean a better understanding of the committee work.

The committee appointed for the year ending the first Monday of December, 1937, are as follows:

Finance—J. A. Evans, Paul F. Luther, Dr. A. M. Gigliotti, Wm. Dean.

Education—Wm. Dean, Jas. F. Fitzgerald, H. W. Smith, J. A. Evans.

Building and Grounds—H. W. Smith, Jas. F. Fitzgerald, Dr. A. M. Gigliotti, Paul F. Luther.

The finance committee will be responsible for securing and approving the disbursing of the revenues necessary to operate the schools.

The education committee will approve all policies concerned with instruction and school activities. This will include selection of teachers, instructional methods, approval of text books and supplies used in instruction, school parties and athletics.

The building and grounds committee will approve all policies relating to the proper care of the physical equipment of the school. This will include the maintenance and repair of buildings, the purchase of supplies necessary to fulfill this duty and the selection of the necessary staff to properly care for the physical equipment.

Millions Ill In Great Britain As Result Of "Flu"

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 15.—More than 1,000,000 people in Great Britain today are suffering with grippe, and many thousands more are being driven to bed by a wave of "tired sickness" travelling in the wake of the flu.

Lethargy, lack of resistance, and depression are the tell-tale signs of this "tired sickness" epidemic, the first of its kind British doctors ever have had to fight.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

I know it isn't baseball time but what do you think about a diamond? Do you think we could support such a thing and would you support such a thing? . It won't be long till the games will be starting, the college teams start out before Easter and from then on there will be plenty of games. Let's hear your thoughts.

I really believe that New Castle is coming back to its feet. Many improvements are being made by several companies. You have read about the new water pipes and now New Castle is going to be the milk center of Lawrence county. The farmers will have a place to send their milk and then the over supply of butter and cheese will be lifted . . . Things look fine and you should all help . . . don't try to buck your bosses or the government . . . they are doing the best they know how . . . it might seem wrong now but it will all come out in the wash . . . be patient and work like men and women and not like a mob.

Don't forget the show "Headlines" January 21st and 22nd . . . the prices are not high and if you figure it out you won't have to go without very much . . if you use tobacco and spend 50 cents to a dollar a week, what do you have at the end of the week . . . you don't even have the smoke . . . you can't look back and say to your neighbor. "did you see that smoke ring I made yesterday" . . . you have nothing to show for your money . . . If you buy a ticket to the show "Headlines" you can say to your neighbor the next day or a month or a year from the show, "do you remember Nellie Brady's dancing" or "DeLace Cole, wasn't he a scream", that folks is something for your money . . . if that isn't enough, think of that little boy you know that is unable to walk or has something else wrong . . . his finances are low or may be gone all together . . . you would like to help him but it would take more money than you could spare . . . by putting your money with some others, it could be done . . . this show is for this reason only . . . every cent will be used for the undeprivileged boy and girl . . . Think it over, folks!

Wall Street Is More Optimistic Over Labor Situation, Stocks Move Higher

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—With Wall Street more optimistic over the labor situation today, the stock market extended yesterday's advance, motors again setting the pace.

Both Chrysler and General Motors spurted more than a point while U. S. Steel jumped over a point into new high ground.

Soon after the opening rubber shares were all over the tape at rapidly advancing prices, reflecting reports a 6 per cent mark up in tire prices, due to the sharp advance in crude rubber, was imminent. U. S. Rubber and Lee hit new 1936-37 tops on gains of more than one and two points, respectively. Goodrich and Goodyear also climbed more than a point.

Profit-taking brought fractional losses in Kennecott, Anaconda and International Nickel. American Tel. dropped a point early, but recovered later.

Douglas Aircraft advanced two points.

General Electric reached 59. Rails were improved but quiet. Oils and utilities showed little change.

Bonds presented a mixed appearance. Grains gained moderately, while cotton was irregular.
